We are surrounded almost entirely by impressive ridges of woodland and peaceful mountain streams. The mountains, in their magnitude, provide a sense of protection and solace. The sparkling streams reflect visions of memories that we hold dear.

Each mountain presents to us a challenge — a goal to be reached. Life, too, presents a challenge. Just as the mountain must be climbed by each one of us, so must we struggle to achieve our individual goals.

O riginating from a mere trickle, the winding stream spreads, grows, and broadens. We begin life as tiny, helpless, beings and with time, we develop as individuals, increasing our knowledge and becoming more aware of our surroundings.

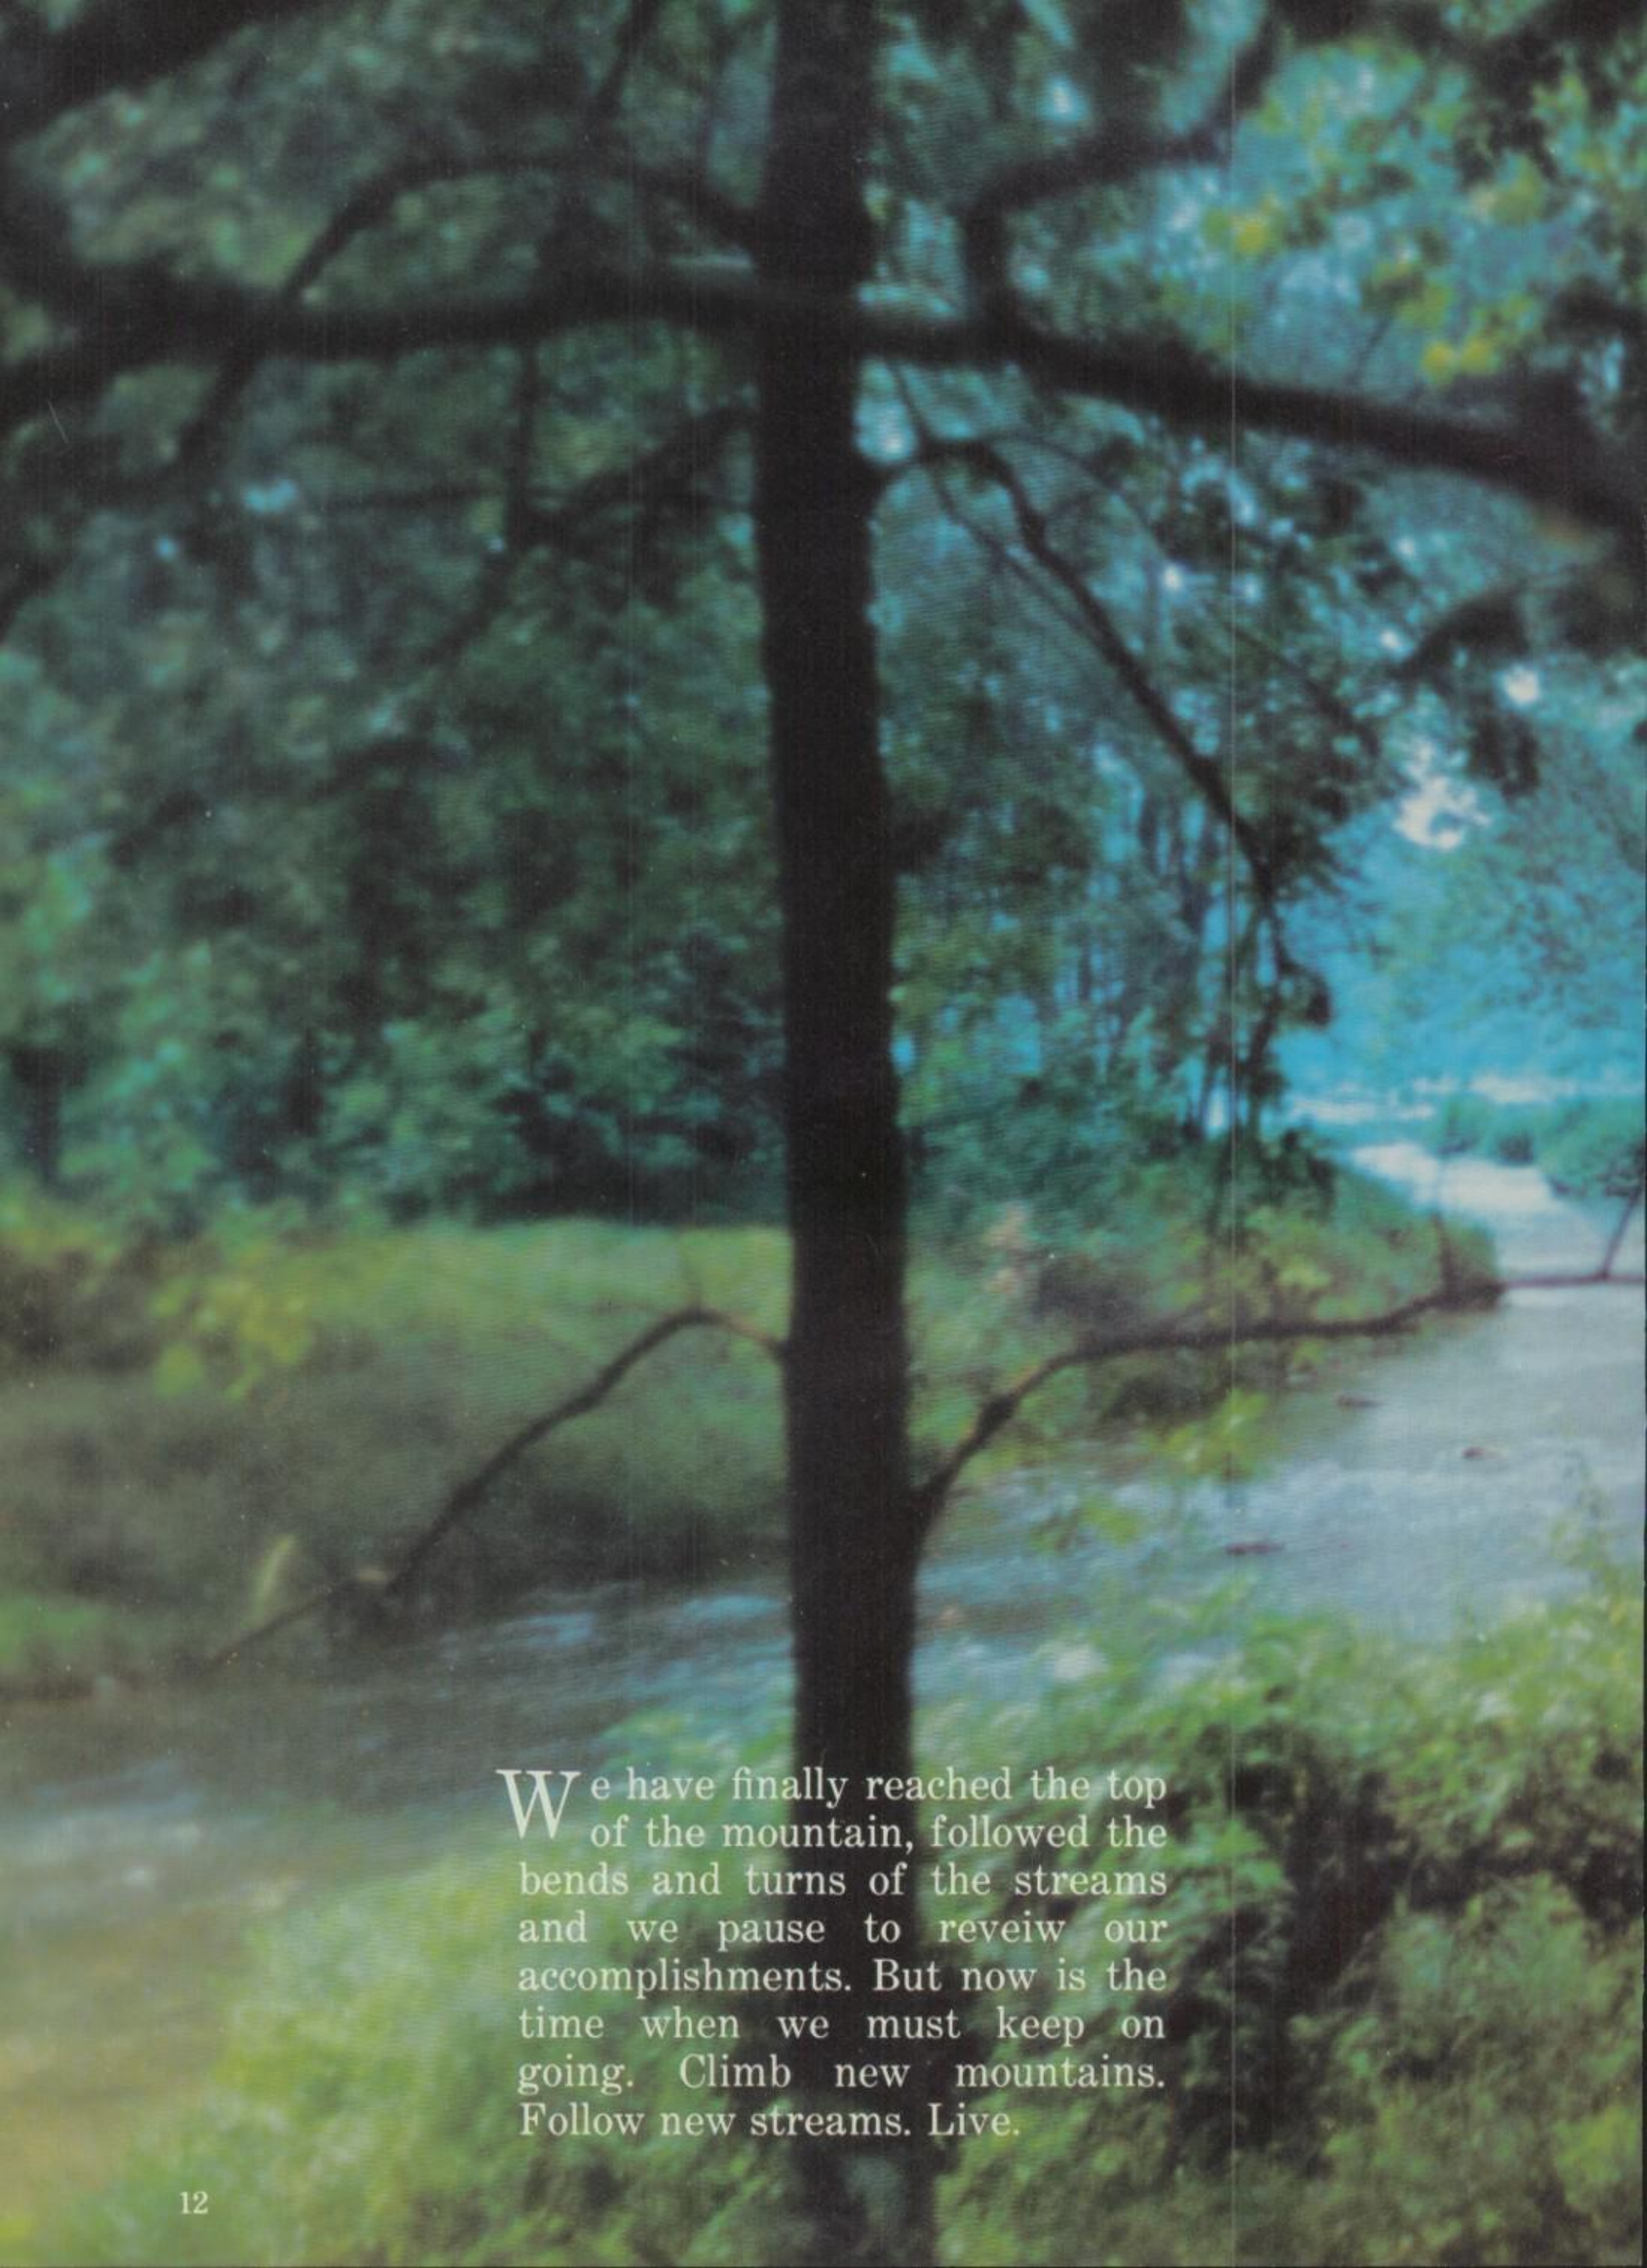

A black and white photograph showing a forest floor in a state of decay. In the foreground, there is a large pile of fallen branches, twigs, and debris. To the left, a tree stump stands prominently. The background is filled with more trees and foliage, creating a dense, somewhat chaotic scene. The overall tone is somber and suggests environmental damage.

Our mountains and streams have become less impressive with litter and lumber devastation. We are partly to blame for this lack of beauty. But nature, too, plays a role, as exemplified by the destruction of the gypsy moth which devoured our forests in early spring.

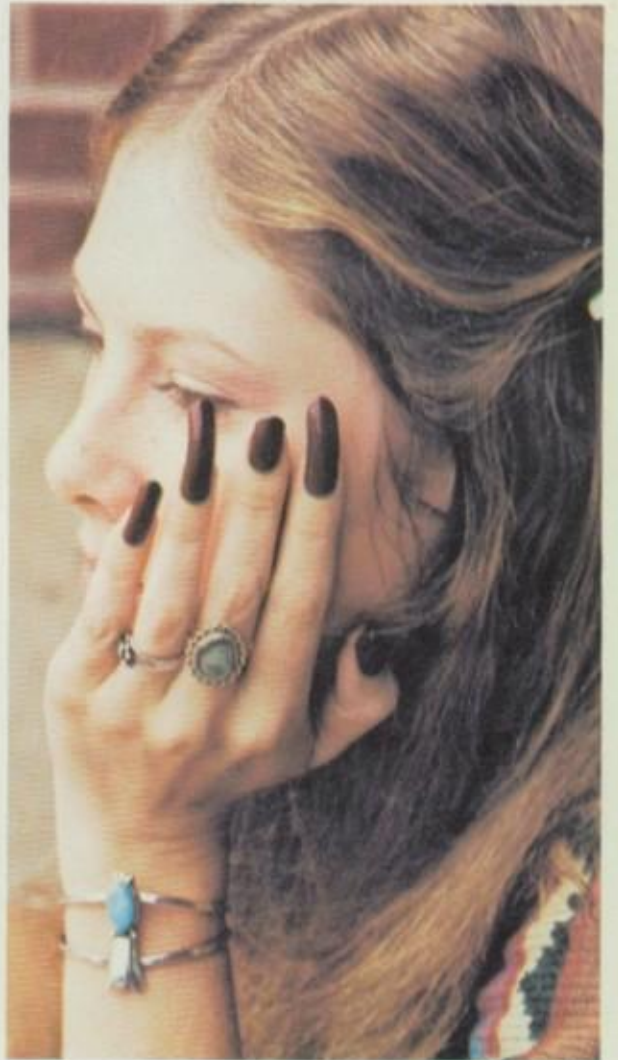

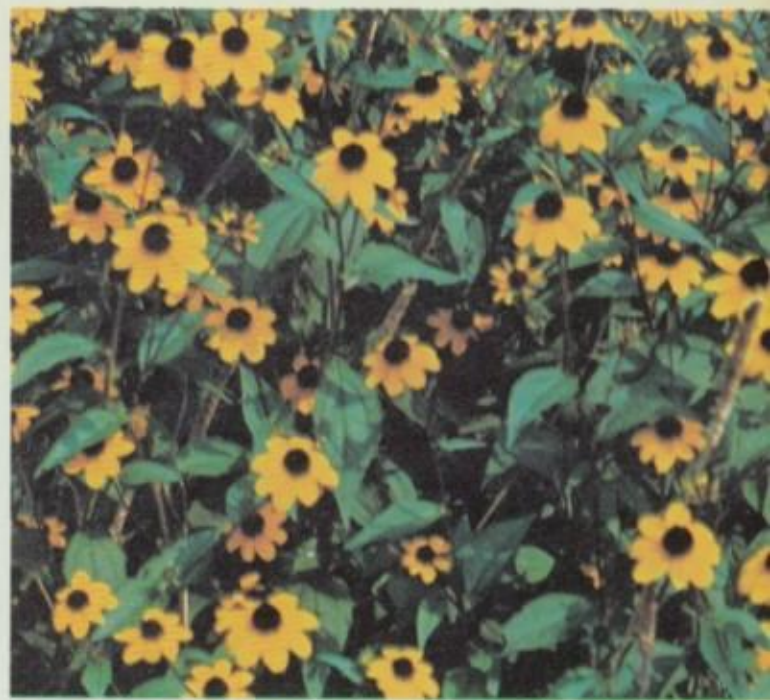

ABOVE: Caterpillars of the gypsy moth attack this branch of a tree in our local forest land. RIGHT TOP: The limbs of this mighty oak stand barren as if in the dead of winter after the gypsy moth caterpillars devoured its leaves. RIGHT: This far-too-frequent scene reminds us that we, too, cause destruction. FAR RIGHT: Logs awaiting the trip to the pulp-wood plant are a vivid reminder of the lumber devastation left in the wake of the gypsy moth.

We have finally reached the top of the mountain, followed the bends and turns of the streams and we pause to review our accomplishments. But now is the time when we must keep on going. Climb new mountains.
Follow new streams. Live.

A large, leafy tree dominates the center of the image, its branches spreading out. In the background, a building with a chimney is visible on the right side. The foreground is a grassy field.

Budding trees signal to us the beginnings of a new season. A season fresh and glorious, filled with hope and peace. A time for a reawakening and a look into the future.

SPRING MEMORIES

'Finders Creepers' — Spine-Tingler Event

"Move over, get your cold feet off me, Wilbur" ... "I'm not in bed yet." Hercules and Wilbur turned on the lights. "Wh-wh-whoo are you?" ... "I'm Mr. Quigley, who are you?" ... "Where did you come from?" ... "In there (pointing towards the mortuary). How about getting me some food? (holding up some money.) I'm starved."

Hercules and Wilbur, played by Timothy Erdley and Daniel Millhouse respectively, just met Mr. Quigley who was supposed to be dead. Mr. Quigley, James Bobb, was a vital old man, who thought someone was trying to kill him, so the boys began some detective work to capture the culprit. Wilbur and Hercules became suspicious of anyone who mentioned Mr. Quigley's name, especially his family. They eaves-dropped on his family and searched frantically for clues.

The MHS thespians presented the spring comedy-mystery play, "Finders Creepers", directed by Mrs. Colleen Bidelsbach, on March 10 and 11 in the Middleburg High School Auditorium.

"Overture for Band", "Russian Sailors' Dance", "Caravelle, An Odyssey for Band", and "Simple Gifts" were all selections featured in the annual Junior and Senior Spring Band Concert on Friday, March 25, 1977 at 8:00 p.m. in the Middleburg High School Auditorium.

Mr. L. Carl Beck, director, selected a variety of music, including classical, transitional classics, and Broadway for the students to perform. The Senior Band played a medley of songs from the Broadway hit "Oliver", and the Junior Band played "Sleepers' Wake", a chorale from "Cantata 140".

Jack Predix, Daryll Orris, Jeff Marks, and Steve Eichman played the solos in "Sinfonia for Four Solo Trumpets and Band."

Student Council Has 'Fabulous Fifties' Day

Nostalgia! For an all too brief period of time, Greaser Day, we had a chance to dress and act like our favorite Fifties character, "The Fonz!" Leather jackets, saddle shoes, mid-calf length dresses, bobby socks, and well-greased hair appeared in the halls as designated members of Student Council searched for greasers who looked most like the teens of the Fabulous Fifties. And who most typified the styles of the Fifties? Jane Nornhold, Junior High, and Kim Garman, Senior High.

Vaults, Flips, Rolls, Show Gymnasts' Skill

Families and friends applauded the 1977 Gymnastic Club of Middleburg High School as it began its annual gymnastic show promptly at 8:00 p.m. on April 15, 1977. Taking place in the high school gymnasium, the show featured the twenty-one members of the club with manager-announcer, Kim Eisenhower and coach, Mary McClellan on the sidelines.

Included in the tumbling routines of the show were rolls, cartwheels, and walk-overs. Breathtaking routines performed on the balance beam and uneven parallel bars, spellbinding floor exercises and various jumps on the mini-trampoline also were an important part of the show.

A highlight of the night's program was the appearance of "Polish gymnast Scottina Troutmina", portrayed by Scott Troutman. This eye catching example of womanhood exhibited an awe-inspiring routine on the balance beam. Although dressed in a somewhat unorthodox manner, "Scottina" managed to execute a few startling dance steps and poses to complete "her" farewell performance.

Choreography Adds Liveliness to Concert

"Another Op'nin', Another Show" began the annual spring choral concert. Under the direction of Mrs. Coleen Bidelsbach, the Junior High, Ninth Grade, Senior High Mixed and Senior High Girls choruses performed pop songs.

The Mixed Ensemble, in bare feet and old-fashioned clothing, sang and danced its way through selections from "Shenandoah." Other songs heard during the concert were "Comedy Tonight", "Gratification", "Let It Be Me", "Walk Him Up the Stairs" and "Ease On Down the Road." "Applause", performed by the Senior High Mixed Chorus, concluded the pops concert on May 27, 1977 in the MHS auditorium.

'Stairway to Heaven' Creates Royal Theme

"We May Never Pass This Way Again", the Senior Class song, was the musical background for the coronation ceremony of the 1977 Junior-Senior Prom. Friday, April 22 marked the end of the reign of the 1976 royalty, Beth Hackenberg and James Stetler. In keeping with MHS tradition, they relinquished their crowns to seniors Linda Dunkelberger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Dunkelberger, and Curtis Dietz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dietz. The naming of the royal couple was the result of balloting in the Senior High.

Jr. Class Committees Coordinate '77 Prom

Junior Class President Tony Kerstetter proved to be an able coordinator of the Junior-Senior prom committees. Organizing the refreshment, decorating, building, court, table and flower committees, resulted in a memorable experience for everyone. Members of the Junior Class who served on these committees worked before school, during the day and into the late evening making preparations.

The decorating committee decorated the tables with aluminum foil and made a sky type ceiling with blue and white streamers. The refreshment committee, headed by Beth Millhouse, selected a menu of sandwiches, chips, pretzels, fruit punch, and a cake for the gala affair.

Student Body Elects Kerstetter President

As the senior members of the Student Council counted the ballots, the tensions of the students in M.H.S. mounted. People whispered, "Who won?" Each of the running candidates hoped that he had been elected.

The candidates for Student Council president were Lori Stuck and Anthony Kerstetter, and for vice-president, Mike Bolig and John Graybill. Each of these four candidates gave a speech to the entire student body on the day before the election and they posted posters to promote their campaigns.

On May 13, 1977, with the ballots finally tallied, James Bobb, 1976-1977 Student Council President announced that the new 1977 - 1978 President and Vice-President were Anthony Kerstetter and Mike Bolig. Each candidate then delivered a thank you to those persons supporting their campaign.

Senior Class Visits Smithsonian Institute

Washington D.C. was the destination for the majority of the Senior Class on April 1, 1977. They toured the Arlington National Cemetery, Center City Mall, Smithsonian Institute, Washington Monument and the Department of Treasury.

In the evening, the seniors had the option of attending a Supersonics' basketball game or going to the movies.

Mr. and Mrs. James Aurand, Mrs. Sue Fisher, Mr. Virgil Hettinger and Mrs. Ferne Zeigler accompanied the class.

Unvaledictory Speech Challenges Audience

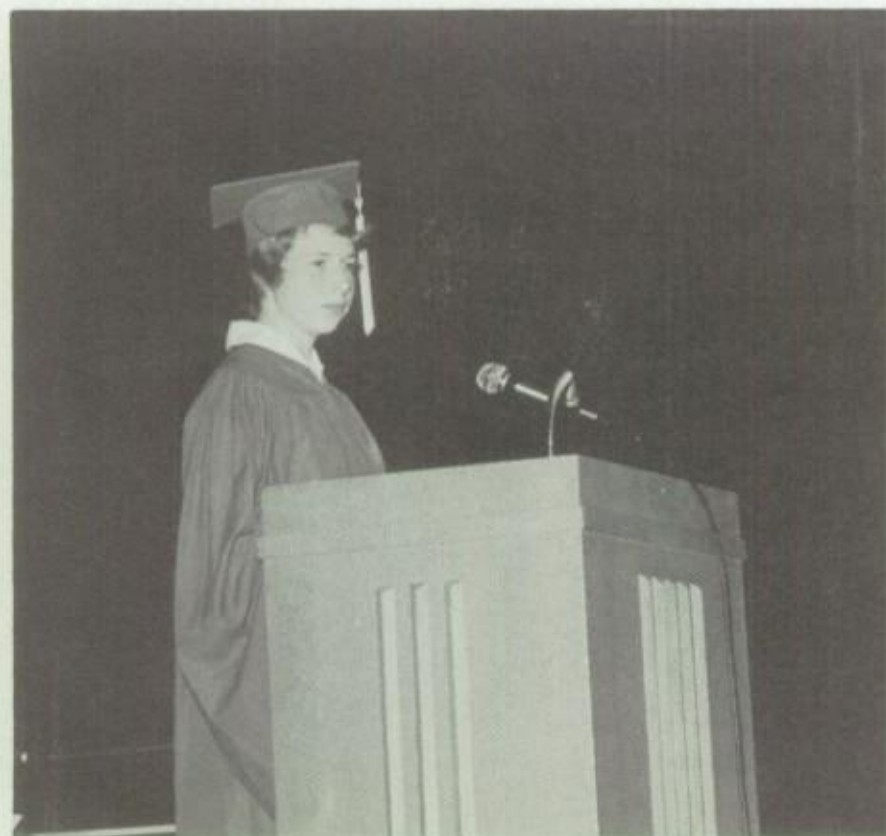

How unique James Bobb's "unvaledictory" address was on Thursday, June 9, 1977. He both humored and challenged his fellow graduates and the rest of the audience during the commencement program held in the Middleburg High School auditorium.

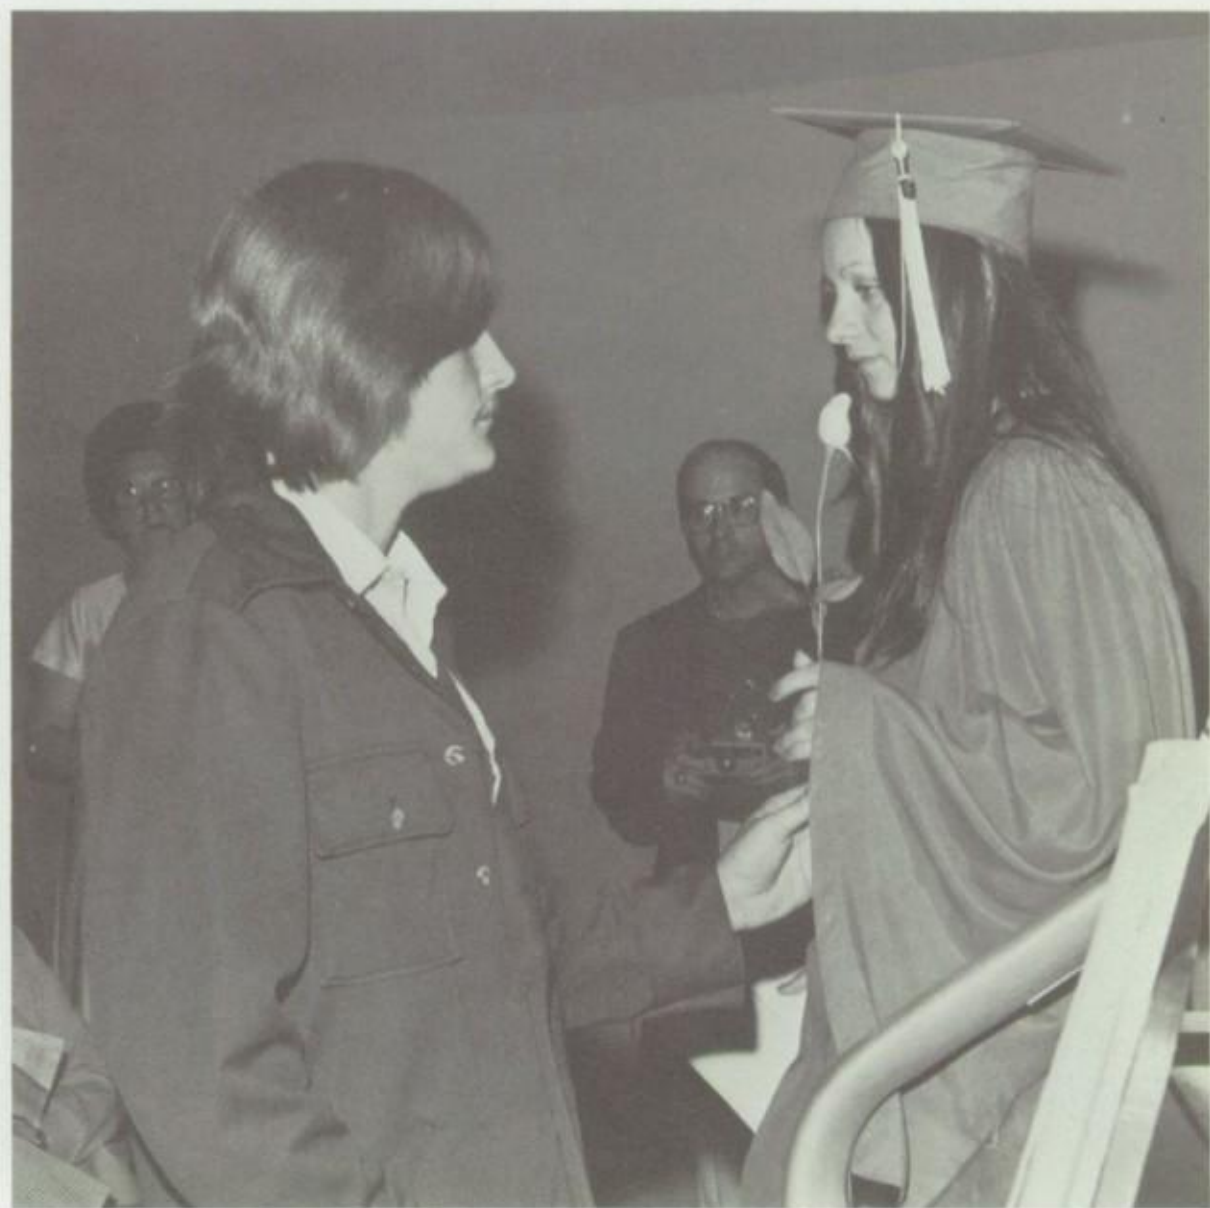

The Salutatorian, Leona Hubler, stated that "we have been given only a weak framework which is not strong enough for a foundation, perhaps it is not even strong enough to hold us up." In her speech, she challenged her classmates to "take that framework and build it into a strong foundation."

Rev. Lloyd Shellenberger informed the one hundred thirty-one graduates that they had a definite need for spiritual training, because "death waits for no one."

Debra Peters and Lori Mingle, members of the graduating class, offered the vocal solos "We've Only Just Begun" and the instrumental solo "Aria", respectively. Mrs. Coleen Bidelsbach, music instructor, was the organist. Mr. Howard Master, Superintendent of the Midd-West School District, presented the Class of 1977 to Mr. Harold S. Hassinger, member of the Board of Education, for the presentation of diplomas.

Sports

Our closeness to the elements of nature provides recreational opportunities ... an enduring hike up the mountain, a refreshing swim in the creek. We are presented with this chance to strengthen not only our bodies, but also our minds.

Cheerleaders Arouse Spirited Middie Fans

This year's cheerleading squad was small in numbers, but large in voice as it cheered the hockey and soccer teams, home and away, on to countless victories. Tryouts held in the spring, resulted in a varsity squad consisting of five girls. The cheerleading advisor was Mrs. Nancy Cody. Varsity squad captain was Lori Stuck and co-captain was Doreen Winey; Junior Varsity captain was Donna Winey and Teresa Benner was the co-captain. Both Varsity and Junior Varsity squads practiced throughout the summer to perfect such cheers as "Power and Might", "Hello", and "If You Want to Win".

Ordering new uniforms and jackets in the spring, the Varsity Cheerleaders patiently awaited their arrival. But to no avail, the skirts and jackets — without sweaters — arrived three weeks into the season, making it impossible to appear in complete new uniforms. The sweaters finally came a week before the season ended. However, the cheerleaders' new blue and gold sweaters were worth the wait; the girls proudly donned the new uniforms for the last West Snyder soccer game.

Middies' Soccer Men

Trap Second Place

The 1977 Varsity Soccer Squad got a "real jag out of a not-too-shabby season" with a final record of 13-1-1. The squad, led by team Captains Jeff Kerstetter, leading scorer with seventeen goals, Scott Troutman with his tremendous defensive effort, and Roger Stetler with his terrific ball control at mid-field, collaborated for a winning season. Senior goalie Doug Eaton displayed his talents by allowing only sixteen shots get past him. All four of these boys received first team honors on the All-Star Tri-Valley League Squad.

A close and exciting game took place October 4, 1977 when the Little Lions of State College battled our Middies under the lights in Selinsgrove. Action began as the first goal came on a penalty shot by Jeff Kerstetter. No sooner did the Middies turn their backs then they found that the Little Lions had scored once and then again to lead the Middies at the half. Coming out on the field rested and ready to go, the action resumed. At the end of regulation time the score was tie 4-4. Each team, hoping to score the winning goal, battled until Roger Stetler, with two minutes and thirty seconds to go, scored to give the Middies the 5-4 victory.

JV Middies Dribble Past League Teams

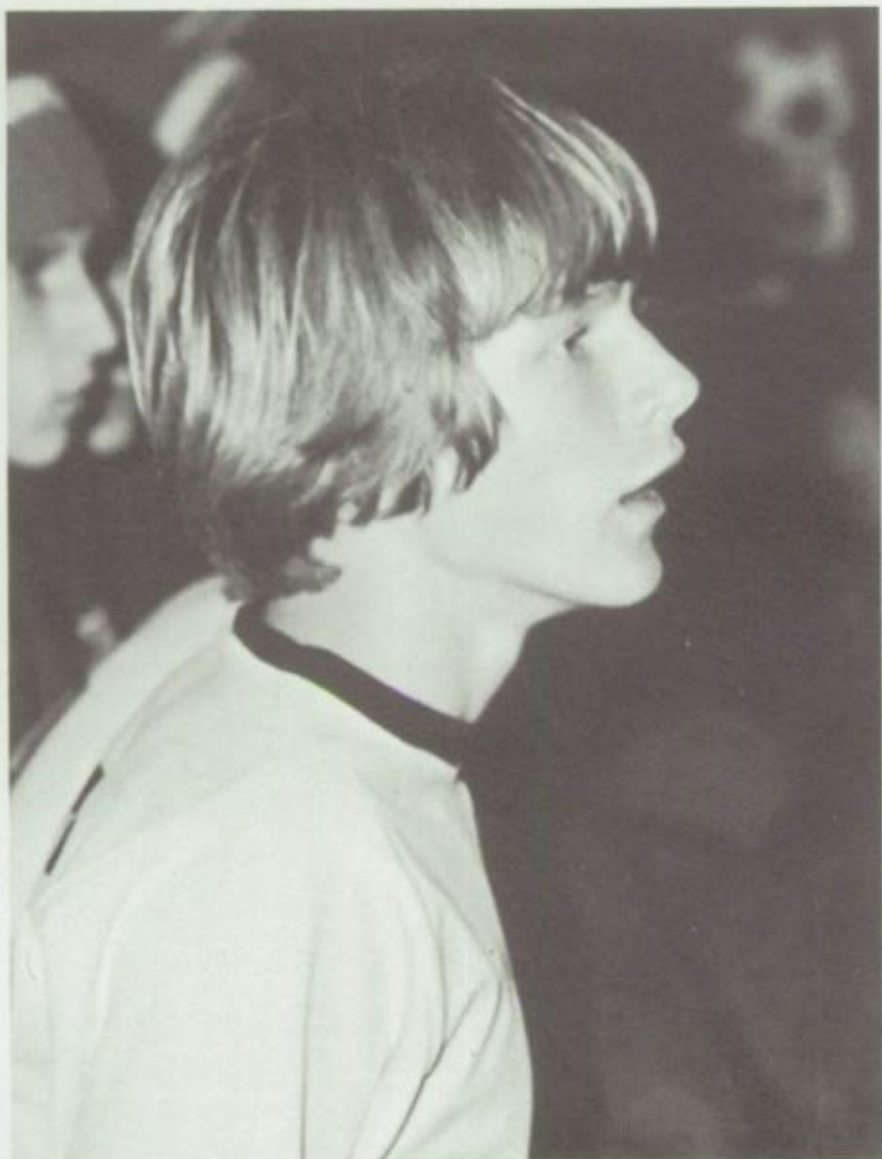

The 1977 Junior Varsity Soccer Squad, coached by Mr. Steven Steffen, once again used its skills and abilities to yield an unbeaten season, 10-0-1. The Middies with a semi-young team proved to be the team to beat in Tri-Valley league. The Baby Middies' strong defense never quit, allowing only eight goals throughout the season. Sophomore goalie Mike Shirk let only six balls past him. Offensively the Baby Middies scored forty-two goals against their opponents. Leading scorers for the Middies were Chris Bickhart with eight markers, Andrew Stock with six, and Scott Predix with five. This year's sophomores have a combined two year winning Junior Varsity record of 22-0-2. The only tie this year came against a tough State College team, who the Middies defeated 3-2 later in season action.

Showing its all-around tremendous ball control and great defense, the Junior Varsity played an exciting game against arch rival West Snyder. The Mounties led throughout the game by one goal until Chris Bickhart, with very little time remaining in the game, scored. At the end of regulation time the score was 1-1. The overtime periods gave our Middies the edge. Being too hot for the Mounties to handle, the Middies combined their forces to rip the nets twice — once again by Chris Bickhart then by Troy Hockenbrock. The final score, 3-1 Middies.

Hockey Team Scoops

Best Season Record

The 1977 Middleburg High School Varsity Field Hockey Team, coached by Miss Nancy Searfoss, completed a season of firsts with an over-all record of 6-5-4.

For the second consecutive year, the girls tied for first with East Stroudsburg in the Susquehanna Field Hockey Association Tournament held at State College in mid-October. With a total of 5 games played, the team came away with victories over the Huntington, Altoona, and Bellwood teams.

Leading scorers for the season were Alesia Erdley and Lana Kline. Another first occurred when Selena Roadcap, halfback, scored a goal. She was the first halfback in school history to score.

An exciting game of the season was the second game between the Middies and arch-rival, West Snyder. The game began with a series of battles moving back and forth across the field. Just before the end of the first half, Sue Lau-dermilch scored a driving shot, assisted by a perfectly placed pass from Lana Kline. A mighty Middies' defense held on as the pressure built and West Snyder drove to the Middies' goal. After many futile attempts and a questionable call, they scored their only goal. Alas, for the Middies, this was the final goal of the game, the final score, 1-1.

Middies Bully Rivals For Exciting Season

Although the Junior Varsity Girls' Field Hockey Team won only 31% of its games, it used this season to build the team's unity and strength. The team was generally a young team made up of only four sophomores and twelve freshmen.

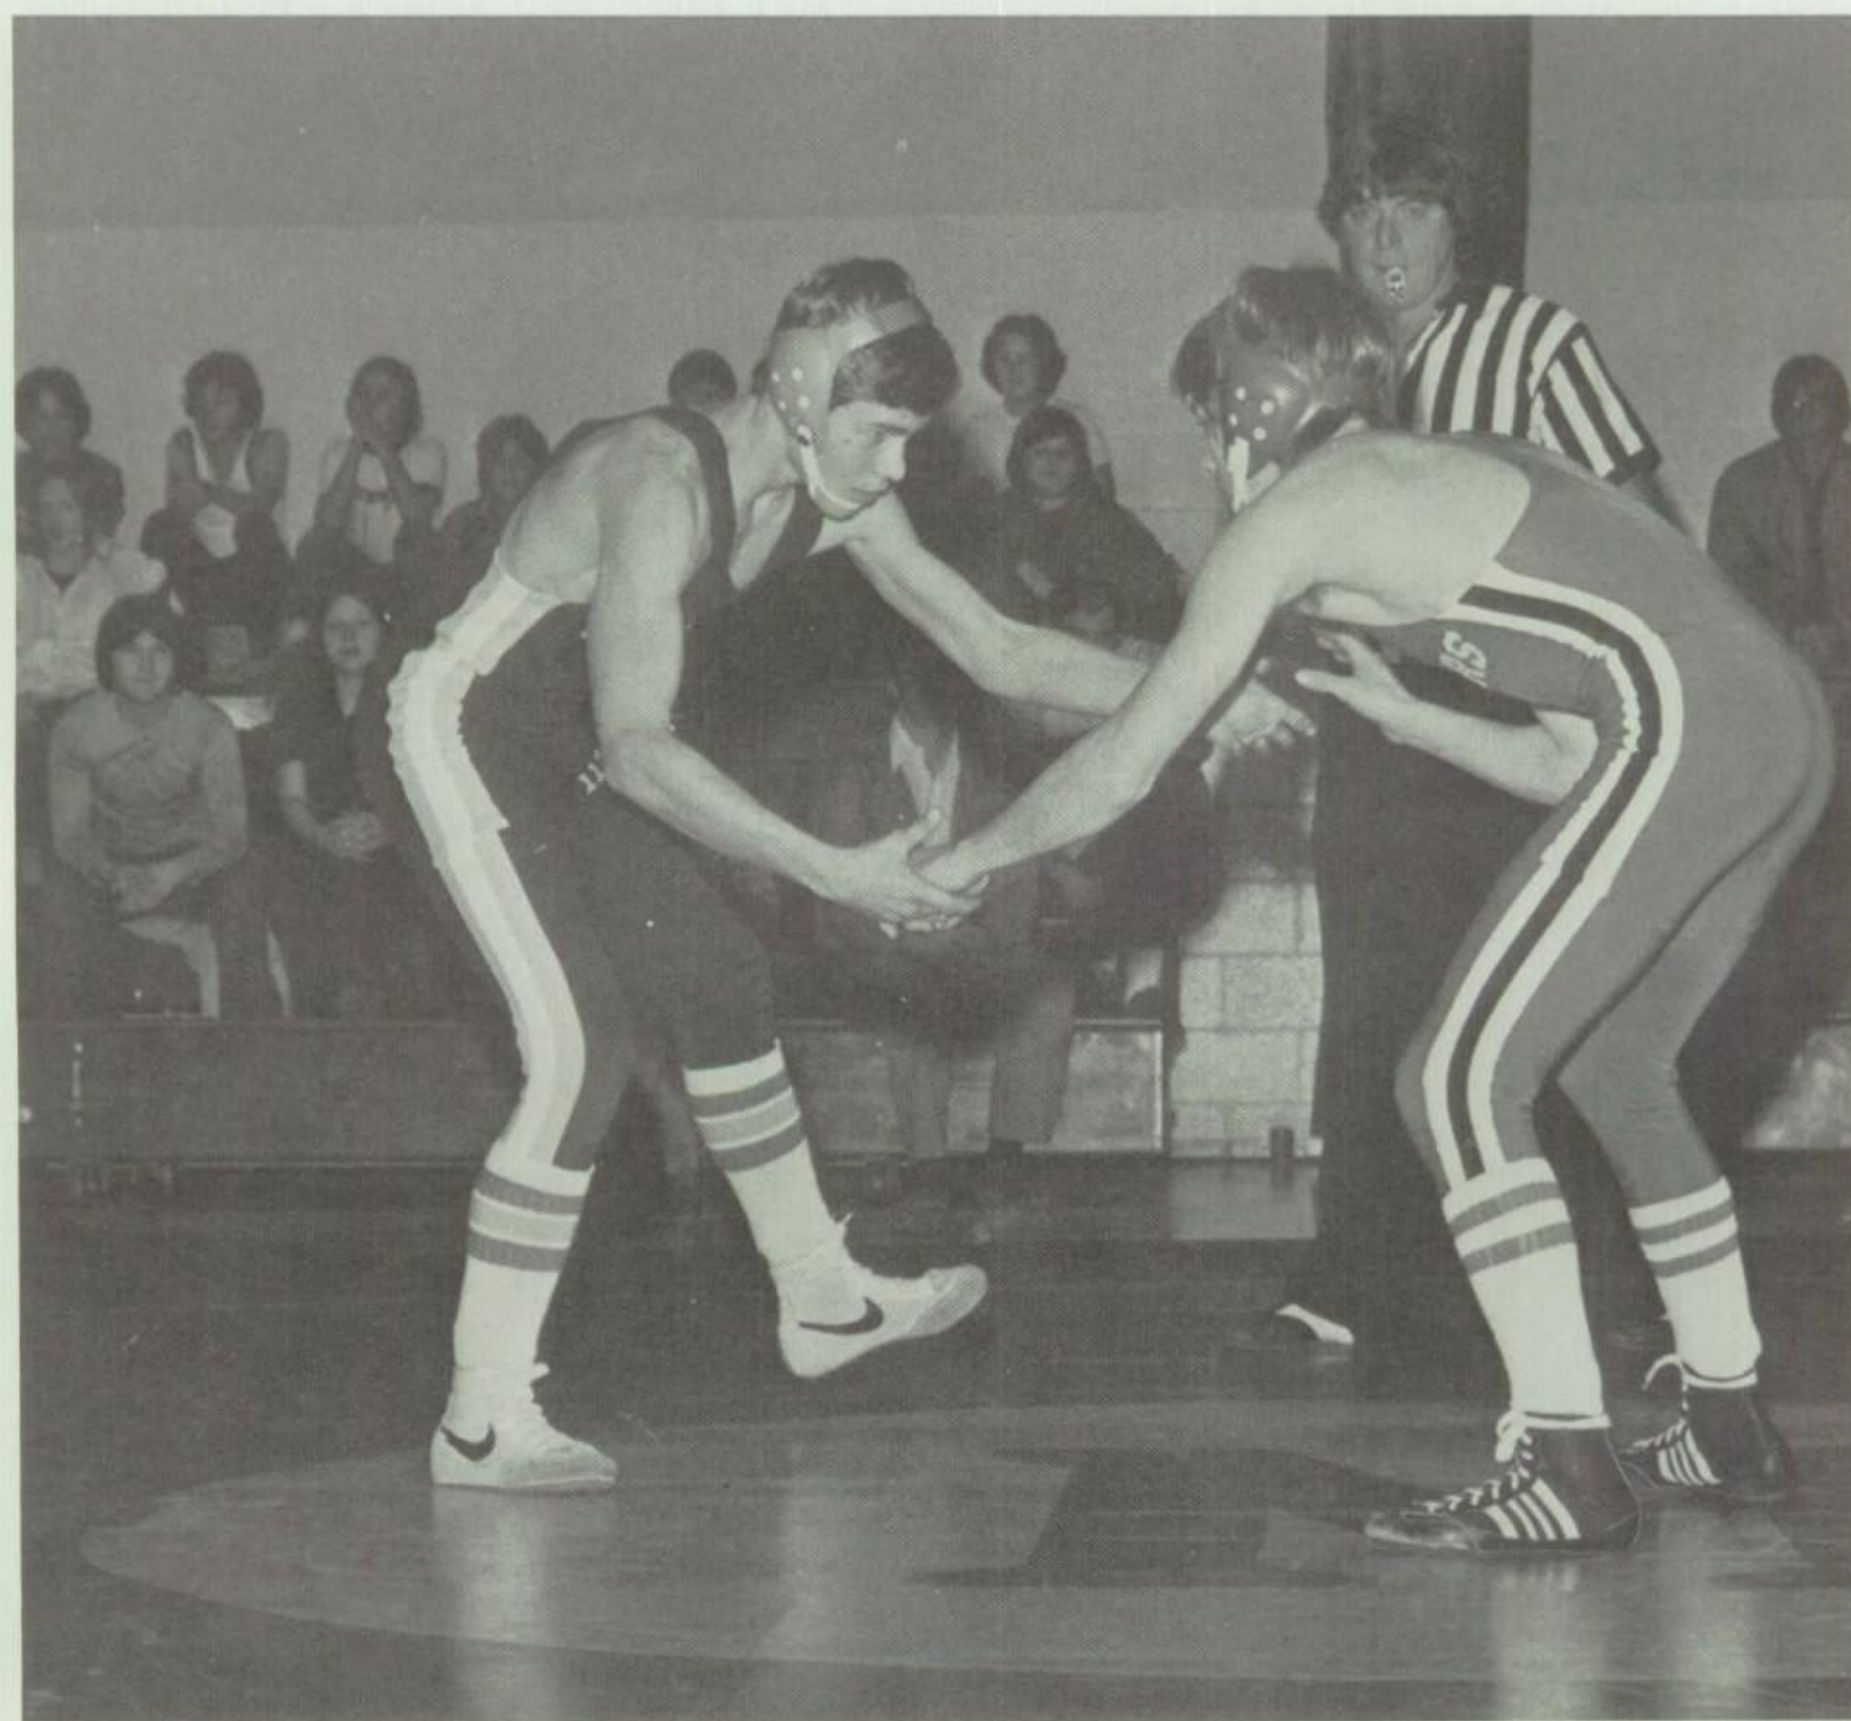

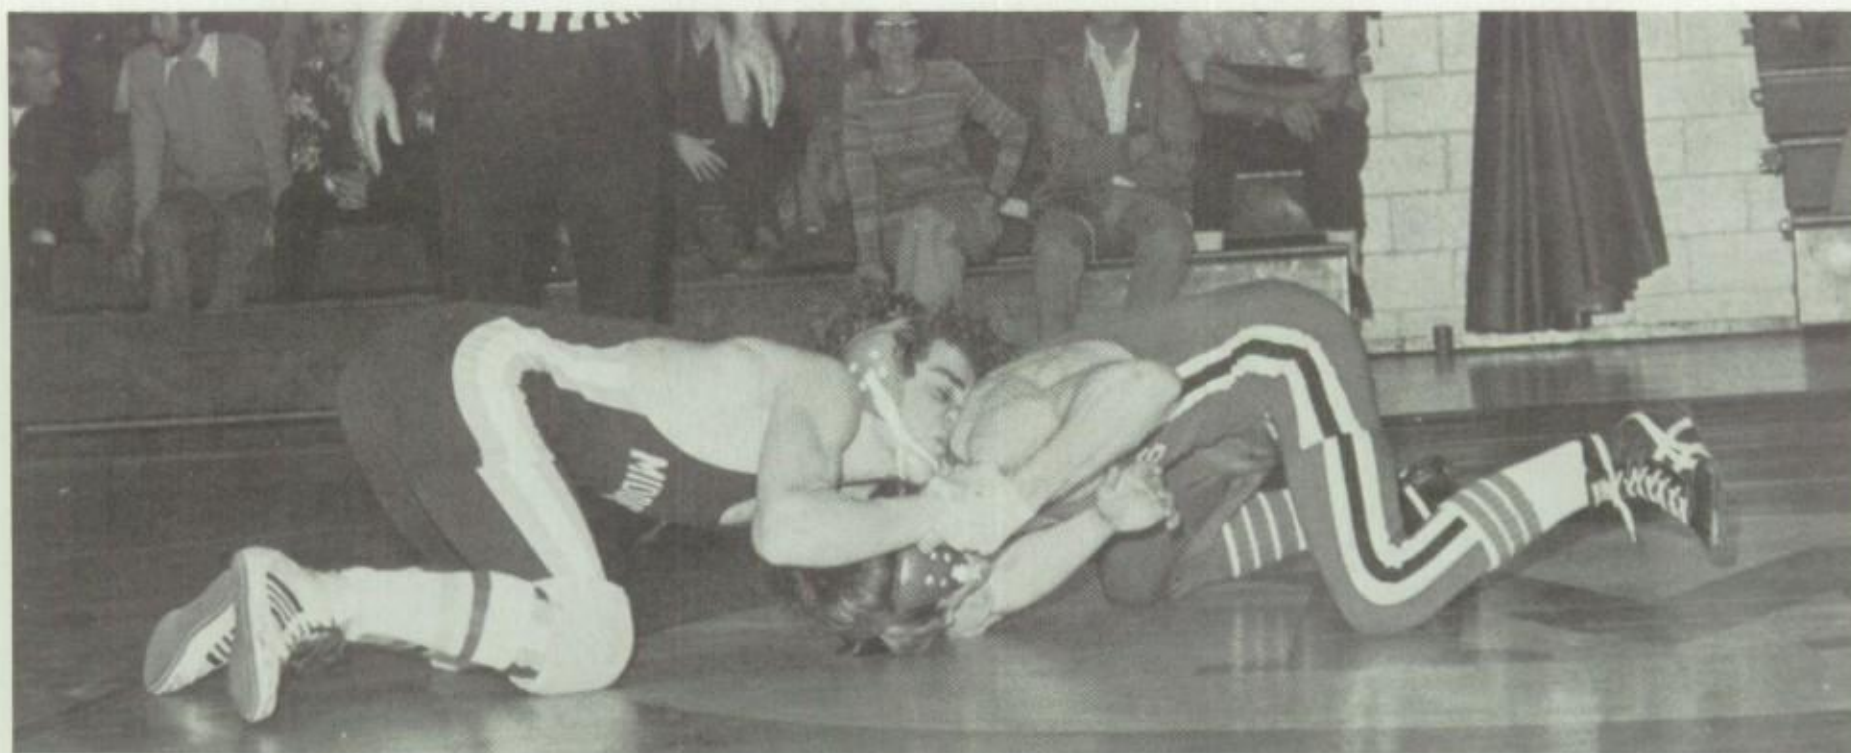

A comparison of goals saved and given up showed that the Middies gave up eleven goals and scored seven times on its opponents. Scorers for the Baby Middies were Amy Yetter, Ann Graybill, and Shelly Straub, each with 2 goals and Lisa Nornhold with 1 goal. Freshman goalie Lorie Folk, did a tremendous job in the goal cage with 22 saves for the season.

An outstanding team effort took place September 29, 1977 when the Baby Middies upset the Little Lions of State College. Strong defense illustrated by both teams summed up the first half of the game when neither team could penetrate the goal to score. Coming out on the field after the half, the Middies put their offense together providing opportunity for Shelly Straub to score. State College attempted many times to tie the score, but could not overcome the Middie defense. Final score 1-0, Middies.

First Year Becomes Learning Experience

Mr. Charles Devanney coached the Junior Varsity Wrestlers whose cradles and Saturday night rides enabled them to capture a 9-7 overall record. Learning moves and techniques was the name of the game for the seven freshmen on the Junior Varsity. Overcoming their inexperience, the Middies started the season with decisive wins over Bloomsburg, West Perry, and Montgomery. Turning in a fine performances throughout the year for the Middies were Scott Kramer, 7-1 and Kevin Graybill, 9-3.

Wrestlers Guillotine Opponents To Backs

Using chicken wings, half nelsons, combined with spread eagles enabled Wesley Whipple's 1977-78 Varsity Wrestlers to compile a 5-11 league record. The wrestlers attributed the improved record to the increased interest in the wrestling program at Middleburg. Middie fans, filling the gym at home and away, gave the boys the encouragement needed for a winning team.

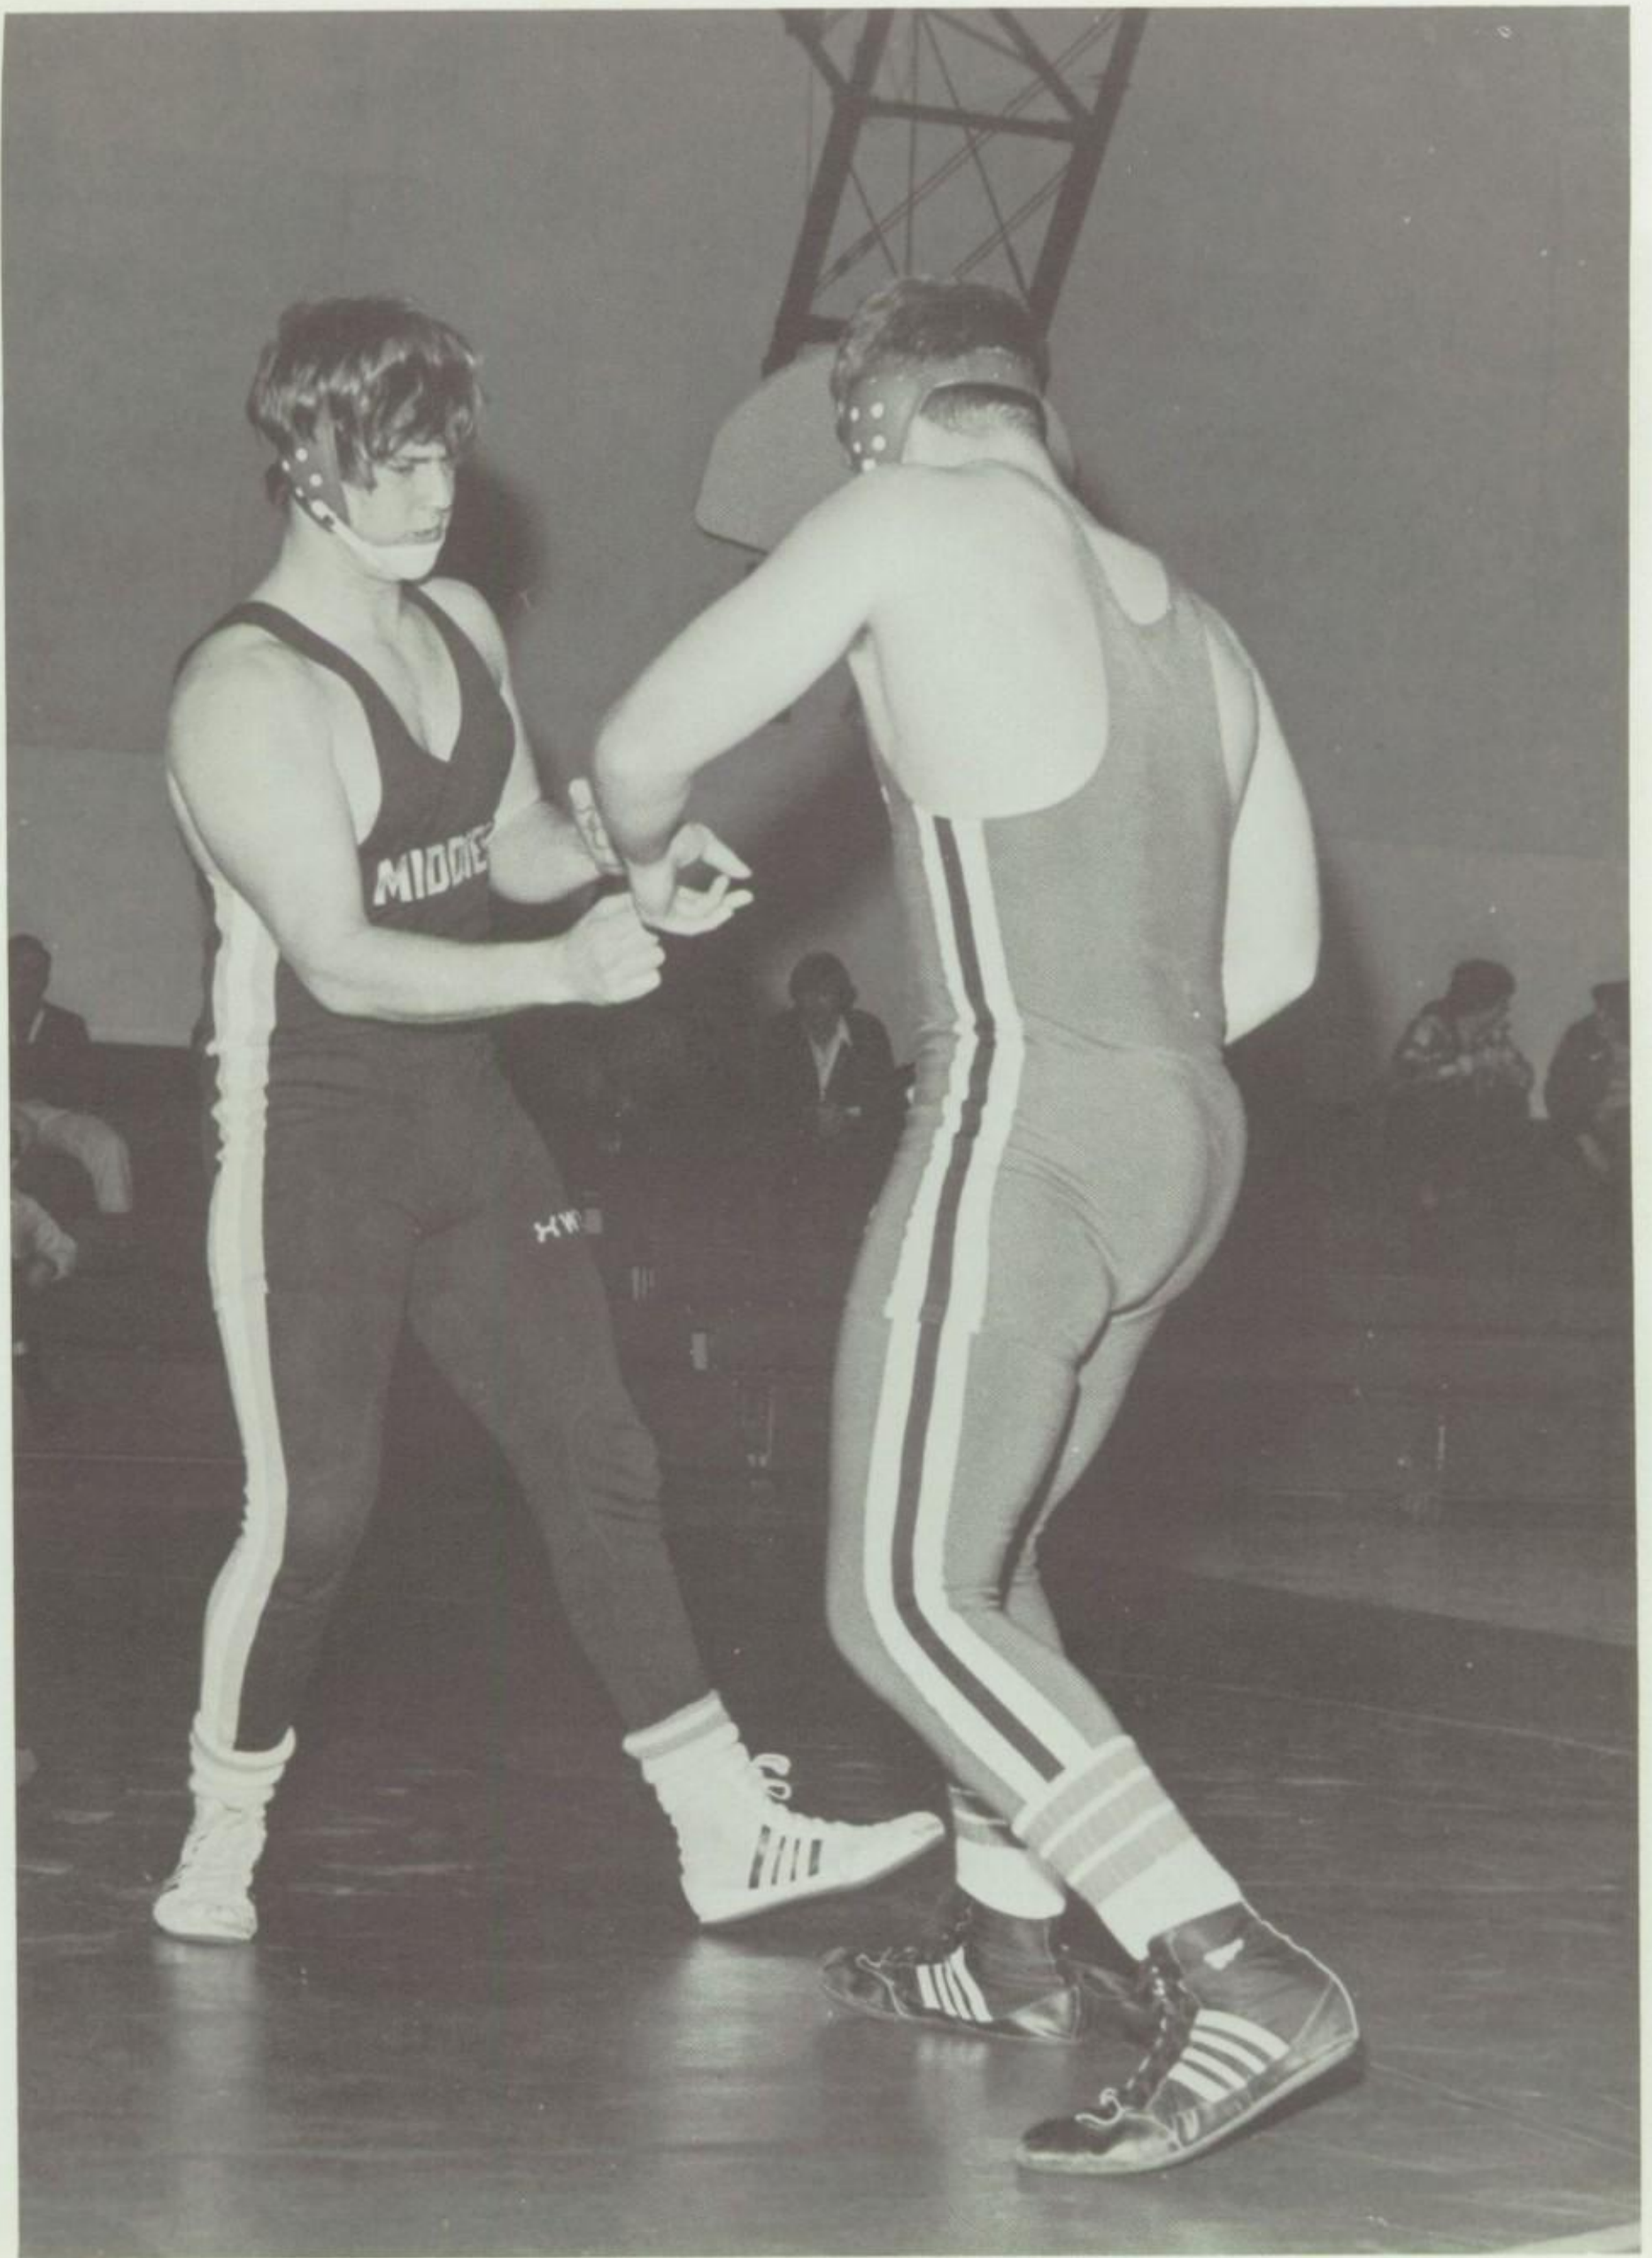

Senior heavy-weight Bill Robinson had an outstanding season, posting a 18-6-1 record along with a first place trophy in the Hughesville tournament. Sophomore Todd Keister also had a fine year, tallying a 15-5-1 record and a second place trophy at Hughesville. The Middies, with a total team effort, flattened rivals West Perry 39-14 and Millville 37-10.

Girls Alley-Oop To Rebounding Victories

Quickness and sheer determination helped the 1977-78 Junior Varsity Girls' Basketball Team to improve its season record to 6-9. Rookie James St. Clair coached the vivacious team, who improved essential basic skills. Ball handling and shooting ability combined with speed and rebounding gave way to an offensive fast break that proved fatal to many Middie opponents. The team, comprised of five sophomores and ten freshmen, used a tough zone and exciting man to man defense to roll over Lewistown, Kishacoquillas, and Chief Logan.

The Middies were left heart-broken as they saw a magic victory over the Juniata Indians pass them by. Using a total team effort the Middies ended regulation time with a tie score 15-15. A few questionable calls and the effect of playing on an away floor were too much for the Middies. Final score 18-15, Juniata.

Full Court Pressure Leads To Turnovers

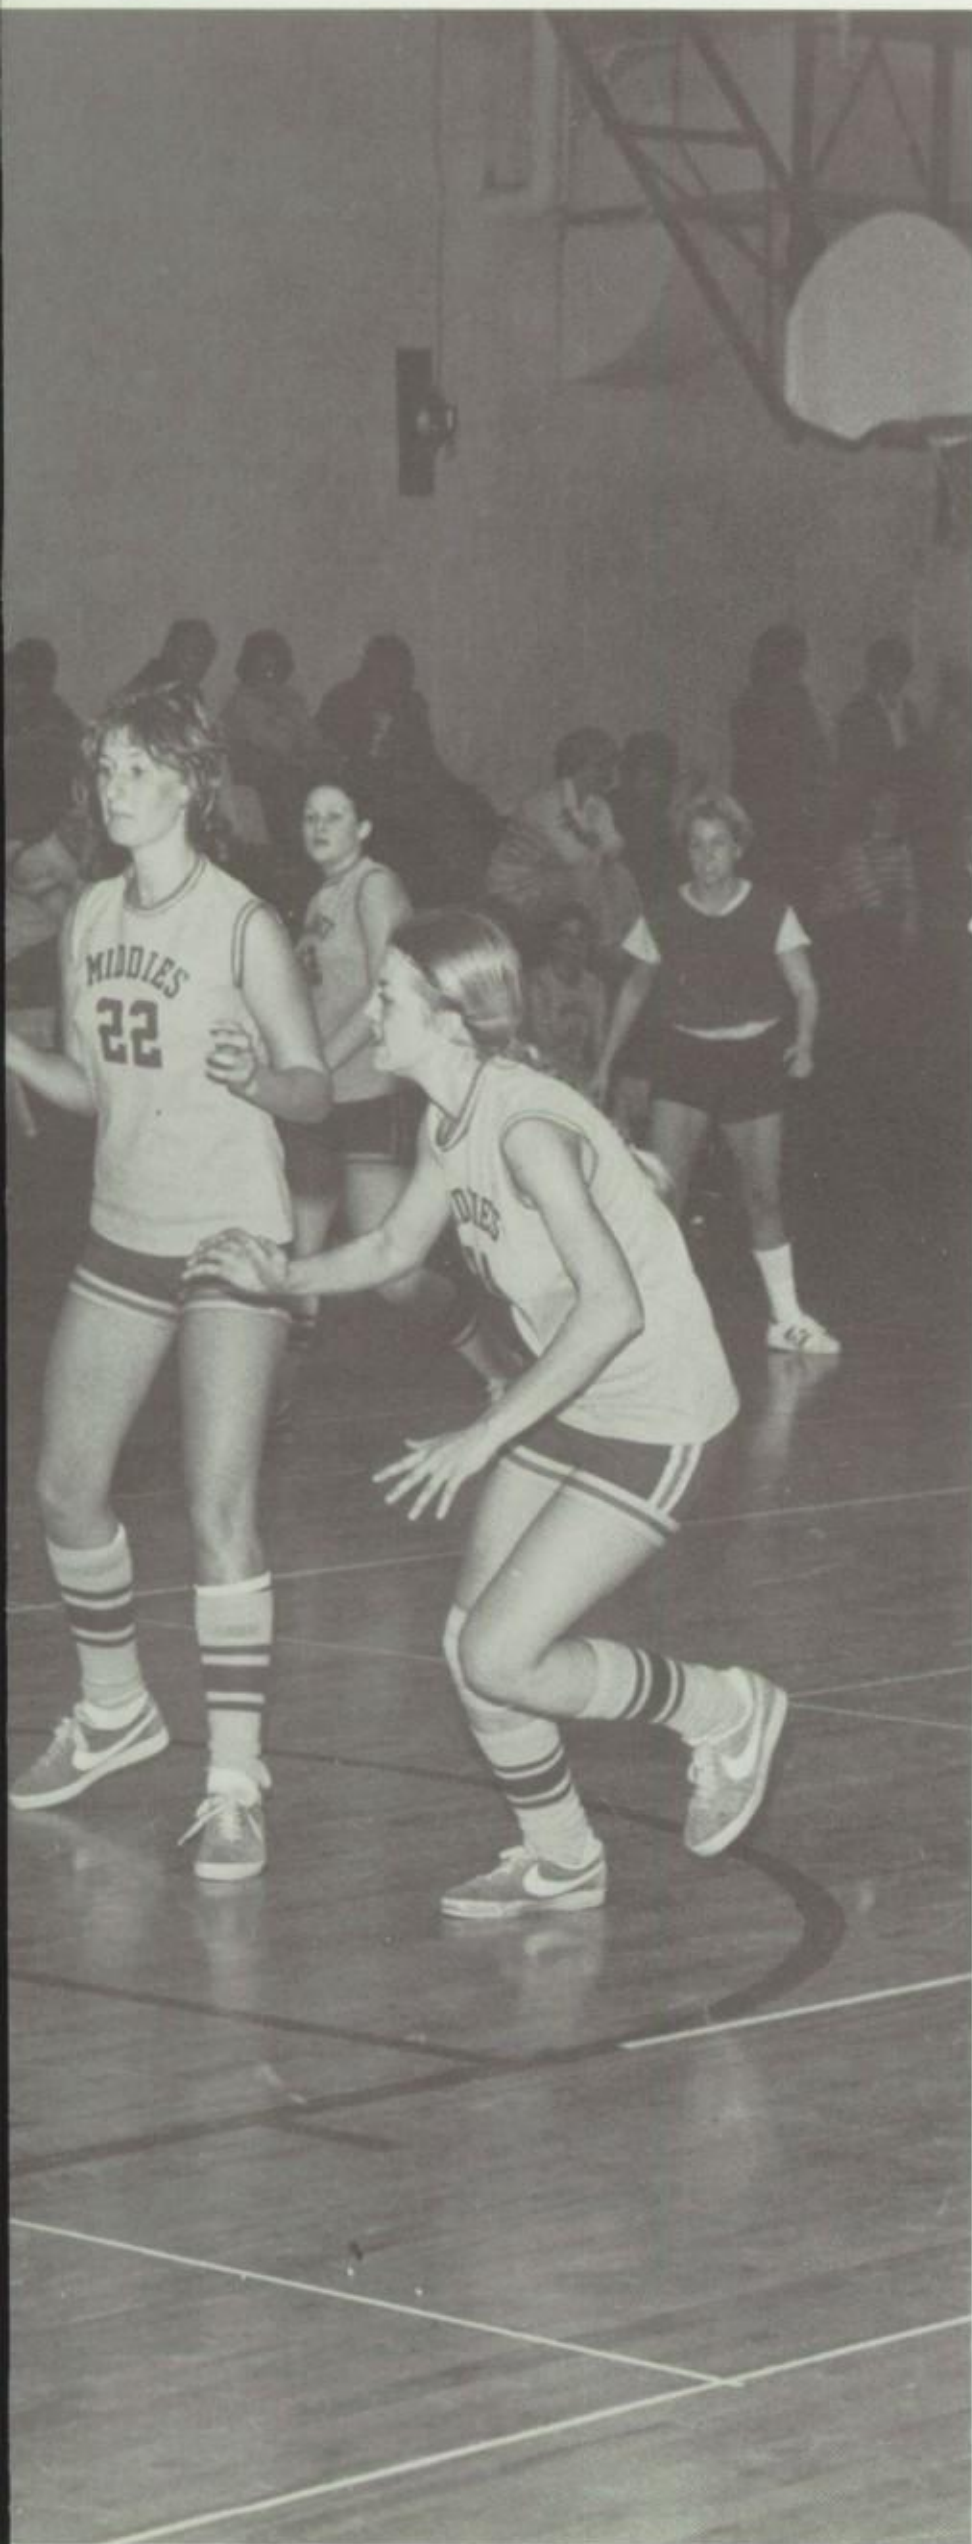

Facing exceptionally talented teams in the Tri-Valley League, the 1977-78 Girls' Varsity Basketball Team had a depressing season. Although Coach Samuel Stauffer drilled numerous skills such as shooting, ball control, and man-to-man defense during practice sessions, the competition was just too tough for the Middies. Upsetting as it was, that league victory never came. Plagued by injuries, a rough schedule, and many turnovers, the Middies failed to win a league game; however the teams' good spirits never died. The Middies' only victory was tallied in a pre-season opener against Bellville, 36-21.

Dribblers' Fast Style Devastates Opponents

Fast breaking, aggressive ball handling led the 1977-78 Junior Varsity Boys' Basketball Team to a winning seasonal record of 13-10. Experienced Coach Tedd Reitz, once again prepared his team for a tough season in the Tri-Valley league. Spotlighted by Dave Goodling's all around fine performance, the explosive, sharp-shooting squad decisively conquered Line Mountain, East Juniata, and arch-rival West Snyder.

The Middies demonstrated their agility, endurance, and finesse in an exuberating overtime victory against the Indians of Kishacoquillas. As the time on the clock wound down, the lead swayed from team to team. With six seconds remaining, Dave Goodling sank one of two crucial foul shots to give the Middies the heart stopping 51-50 victory.

Jump Shot Used To Finish Fast Breaks

Aggressive ball control and surprising comebacks enabled Daniel Perna's 1977-78 Basketball Team to capture an impressive 12-15 overall record. Having only nine boys on the team, two of which were starting sophomores, seemed to be a handicap in the experience category, however, the supposed rebuilding year for the Middies gave way to a repeat performance of a fine season.

Seniors Randy Jones and Roger Stetler's all-around ability on the floor and Rick Boonie's talented jump shot combined to give the Middies a second place finish in the Western Division of the Mid-State League behind a tough Newport team. Rick Boonie scored over 400 points this season, qualifying him for Top Ten scoring honors in the Harrisburg area and number one scoring spot in the Western Division of the Mid-State League.

Softball Team Slides By Winning Season

High hopes for a terrific season drove the 1977 Softball Team, under returning head coach Gail Valentine, to a pre-season victory, 14-8, over Mifflinburg. From there the team continued its winning ways with victories over tough Juniata and Greenwood teams. The season was plagued with errors, however, as the team slid into a midseason slump; a slump that did not end. The Middiettes, with a supreme team effort, fought to a near victory over West Perry. Backed with virtually errorless play, the girls held their opponents to only 3 runs, while scoring 2 runs in the last inning to make the final score 2-3.

Frank Fisher's Junior Varsity was a young team this season, with only 3 returning regulars. The team was rewarded with a final record of 8 wins and 8 losses.

Batters Slug in Runs For Successful Year

It was a year of vast improvements for the Middleburg High School Baseball Team as Mr. Stanley Sheaffer premiered as coach of the varsity team. Under his skillful supervision, the well-rounded team compiled an overall record of 9 wins and 8 losses. Despite conflicts with basketball season, Coach Sheaffer's team emerged victorious in contests against tough teams from Selinsgrove, Rothrock, and Sugar Valley Schools.

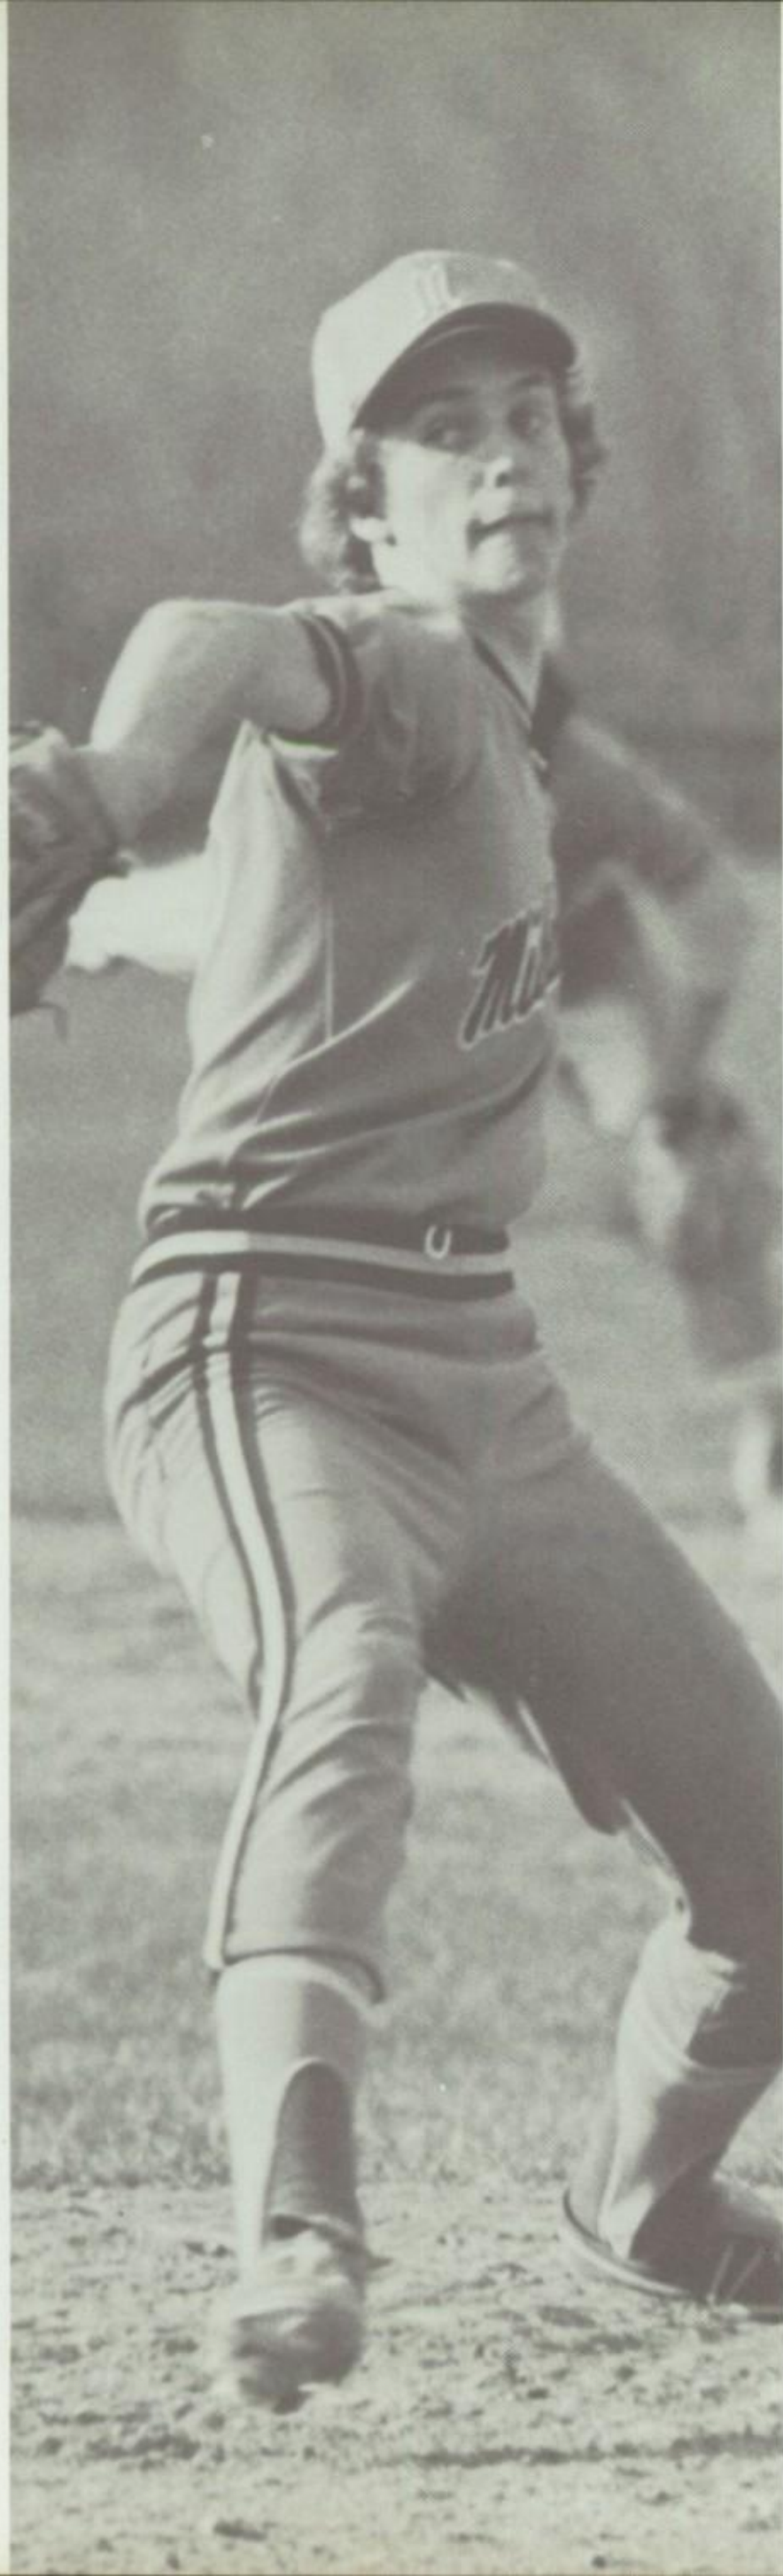

One of the most exciting contests was between the Middies and arch-rival West Snyder. During that game, Ron Swinehart was hit by the pitch and awarded first base. From there he stole second, scoring on Roger Stetler's single. The leading hitter for the team was Jan Felker, and teammate Vince Keister had an outstanding pitching record, winning 7 out of 9 games, including 3 shut-outs.

Middie Golfers Eagle District Four Title

After a summer break from golf matches, four representatives of the Middleburg High School Golf Team stormed through a rainsoaked Shamokin Valley Country Club course to capture the District IV Golf Title. Scott Troutman, Timothy Jordan, David Goodling, and Brian Elsasser composed a team that competed against 21 other teams in the annual District IV, Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association Tourneys, finishing with a four player low of 349.

During regular golf season, the golf team, under first year coach, Mr. Kenneth Orris, compiled a 9-5 record for a third place finish in league play. Led by senior linksmen, Michael Howell and Daryl Orris, the team attained a 335.6 stroke average, the best in the league. Other players who had good seasons were Brian Elsasser, Timothy Jordan, Edwin Stock, and Scott Troutman. Troutman led the team with an 82.6 stroke average. He and Orris qualified for the league's Best Golfer Tournament, eventually finishing fourth and fifth respectively.

Winter Squads Stand Behind Sports Teams

Hand clapping and feet stomping totally described the 1977-78 winter cheerleaders. Both cheerleading squads backed the Middies teams on to countless victories at home and away. Doreen and Donna Winey captained the Varsity and Junior Varsity squads respectively. Advisor Nancy Cody, along with the cheerleaders used their talents to develop an exciting new cheer "Power House".

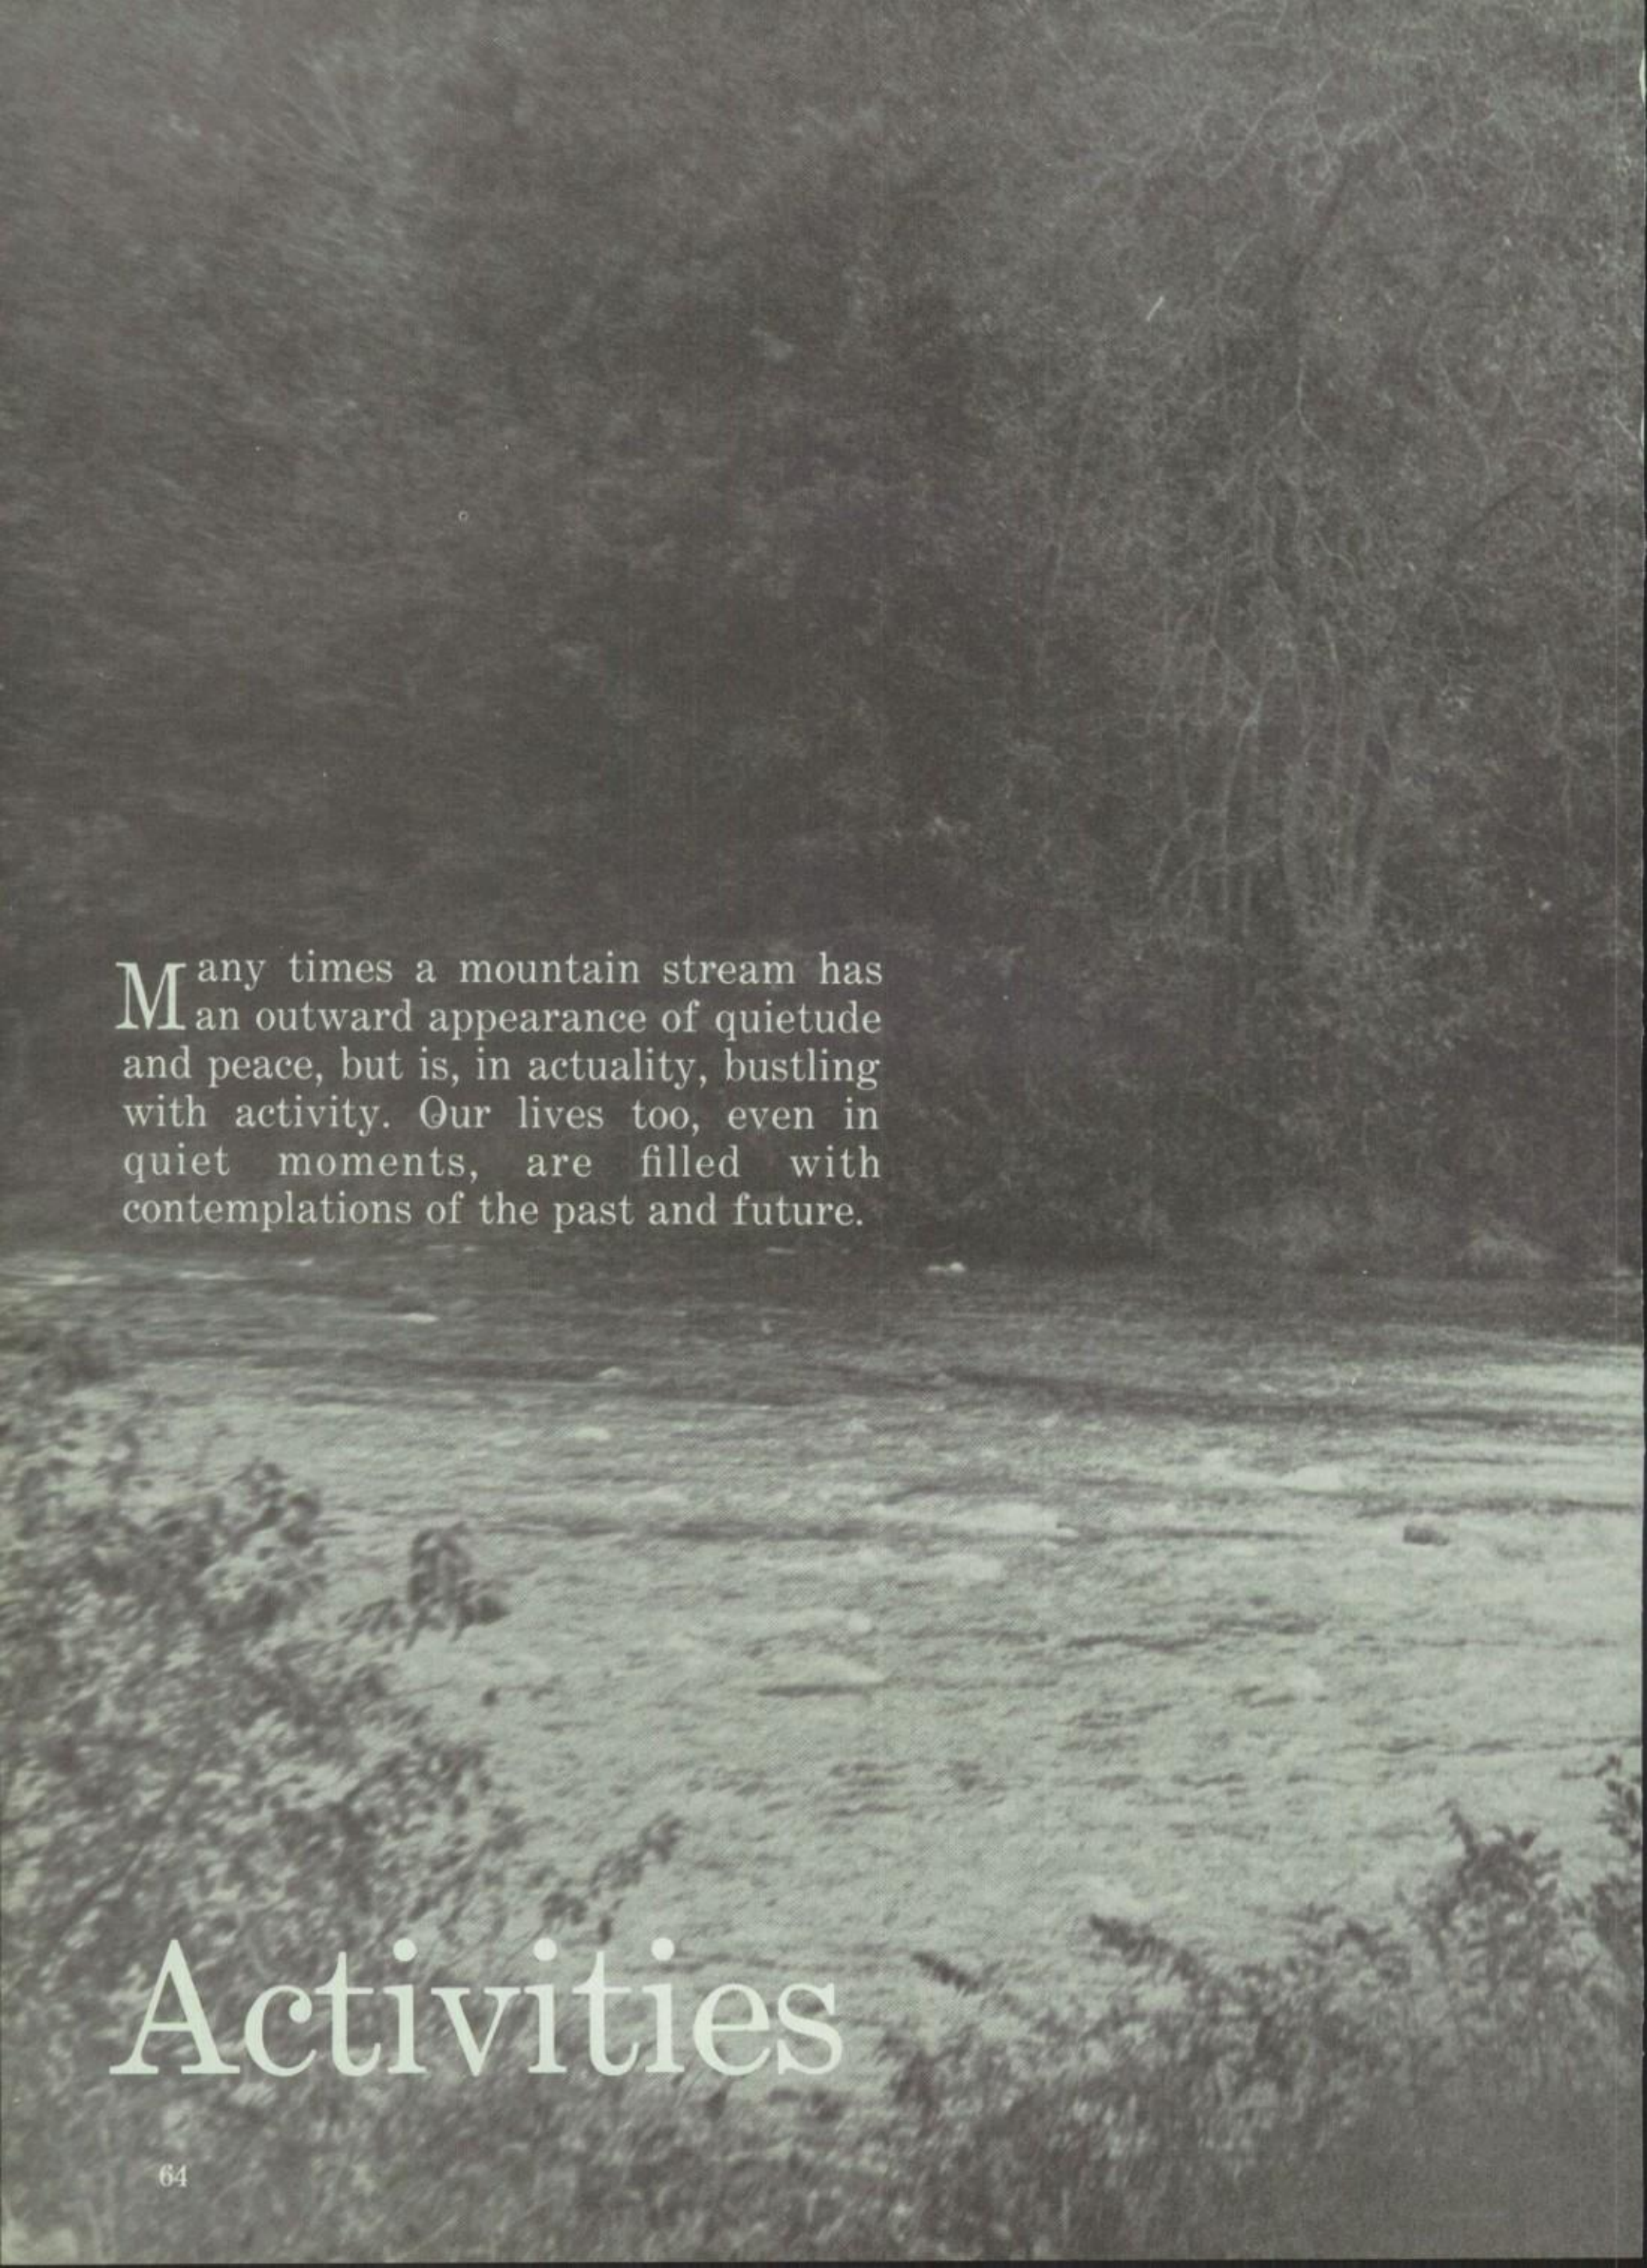

The Cheerleaders sponsored the annual "Parents Night" for each of the winter athletic squads. Festivities included an introduction of the parents of the varsity players, and the presentation of carnations to the mothers of senior athletes. The evening concluded with a tea in the cafeteria following the game.

Proceeding down the aisle to the music of the "Grand March," played by the band, the Homecoming candidates and their escorts went to the royal setting in the auditorium. Jeff Kerstetter, Roger Stetler, and Scott Troutman, Varsity Soccer Captains, presented flowers to the candidates.

Mary Stouffer, emcee, announced the new Homecoming Queen, Lori Stuck, crowned by Deanna Steimling, 1976-77 queen. Dedicated to the Queen and her court, Becky Lyter sang "The Way We Were (Memories)," accompanied by Miss Lynn Sarf.

Honor Society Plans Williamsburg, Va. Trip

Planning a trip to colonial Williamsburg, Virginia was one of the main activities of the National Honor Society. As a result of careful planning, the Honor Society members toured craft shops, including cabinetmaking, printing, and basketmaking. The society also visited the Governor's Palace. To fund the overnight trip on March 3 and 4, 1978, the members sold M&M's to finance the motel and tour expenses.

Another highlight of the year was the formal Candlelighting Induction Ceremony for new members who maintained a ninety percent average or above during tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grade. The guest speaker, Mr. Daniel Perna, addressed members and parents on the four qualities of leadership, scholarship, service, and character.

The Skeleton Walks In MHS Auditorium

Late on a winter afternoon, Elaine Blair, played by Robin Meredith, went to inspect the property which Elaine had inherited on her uncle's death. Upon arriving, Elaine and her family found the house in the possession of a suave and mysterious physician. However, Elaine and the physician, played by Doug Mingle, knew that a large sum of money had been secreted on the property. The plot thickened as a skeleton walked through the house and Elaine disappeared.

The skeleton walked in the MHS Auditorium on November 17 and 18, 1977 at 8:00 p.m. Mr. Willis Clawser directed the dramatic production.

Student Body Talks, Council Takes Action

Middleburg High School's Student Council acted once more as the student body's voice in school government. Students with specific complaints or suggestions concerning school life found it possible to air their views to the council. Council members discussed problems dealing with the inaccessibility of the computer room and the library. They also considered the possibilities of obtaining chocolate milk every day in the cafeteria and popsicles or ice cream for sale during lunch.

Divided into five committees — social, suggestion, publicity, project, and service — council members found themselves involved in various school projects. During the fall and winter terms, the executive committee organized, among other things, the Homecoming festivities. After long hours, its work culminated in a gracefully orchestrated coronation ceremony during an afternoon assembly. The assembly resounded with music sung by a girl's quartet, a soloist, and played by the senior high band. A Homecoming Dance also sponsored by the Student Council was one of the year's highlights.

Monitor Staff Wears Ad Campaign Shirts

"The deadline is in two days! Is that copy finished? Mrs. Hoffman, are there any jogs on this layout? Think of a word seven picas wide! Hey, this headline fits! Kids, I'm afraid you won't have sixty pages ready for me by Monday! 'Have You Got Yours?' Must we wear that on our T-shirts for the campaign? Absolutely, right across your 'buzzoom' line and the 'I've Got Mine' goes on the back."

Sound like the dialogue from the newest television sit-com? No — those spirited lines were straight from the seventh period yearbook class. And what a class it was! It didn't take the staff long to find out that the only way to beat deadline pressures was with hard work, original ideas and lots of midnight oil. And when that final deadline did arrive, did the staff sit back and wait for the "oohs" and "ahs" to roll in? No way! The yearbook and newspaper staffs switched publications and away they went again.

Parliamentary Group Practices Procedure

During the "A" activity period, the members of Parliamentary Procedure met in room 140 to practice the proper procedures to conduct formal meetings. As ninth graders, the members learned the correct proceedings, and then, as tenth, eleventh, and twelfth graders they put them into practice.

With advisor, Leroy Dreibelbis, the club members prepared for the local parliamentary procedure contest between the ninth through twelfth grade classes held in February. They organized teams that included eight people: the president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, chaplain, advisor, reporter, and sentinel. Each team member had his own station in the meeting and his own information to present. During the contests, team members were quizzed by three members of an opposing team. The winner of the contest was the team making the least number of mistakes.

Students Learn New Techniques In FHA

Under the supervision of the advisor, Miss Barbara Ferster, the Sr. Future Homemakers of America had several projects this year. The chapter had an "Adopt a Grandparent" program, where the members aided a nearby elderly person by helping this "grandparent" to clean, cook, or run errands. In addition, the chapter helped healthy children in co-operation with the March of Dimes.

Participating in such projects, the members received credit towards obtaining the Key, Scroll, and Torch degrees. Also, the chapter had a demonstration at the State Farm Show in January. For socializing, the Sr. FHA held holiday parties, Christmas caroling, and a Mother-Daughter banquet.

The Jr. FHA, consisting of seventh, eighth, and ninth grade girls, counterparted the Sr. FHA. The Jr. FHA, under the advisory of Mrs. Sue Fisher, had an impact project to be submitted for State recognition in the spring. The project dealt with holding a nursery school for pre-school children.

The chapter prepared a Jr. FHA booth for the Beaver Fair in September and received the second place award. The members decorated the showcase next to the home-economics room throughout the entire year with ideas relating to Future Homemakers of America.

Swabbing arms with alcohol, gathering information from prospective blood donors, and weighing and measuring babies at the Well-Baby Clinic — the Nurses' Club did all these projects to gain experience in the nursing field.

FBLA Club Studies Business Procedures

With State and National affiliation, the Future Business Leaders of America participated in Regional and State conferences, workshops, conventions, and contests, consisting of typing, office practice, and bookkeeping. Relaxing occasionally, the chapter held holiday parties, a field trip to a hospital and visitations to local businesses and government facilities.

In order to fund its service projects, the FBLA sold Easter candy. Money earned from the candy sale aided needy families who suffered hardships as a result of fires and floods.

Monitor Jr Members Do Apprentice Work

What's black and white and read all over? The Monitor Jr. This year's junior yearbook class took over the publication of the Monitor Jr., a bi-weekly periodical distributed to the students of MHS. With the aid of advisor, Lynda Hoffman, class members busily gathered and edited news for the newspaper while also preparing the weekly Reminder.

In the newspaper, there appeared articles that kept students well informed on current events, music, and sports. The sports section, covering girls' and boys' sporting events, made up a major part of the paper, while another section was designated to spotlight teachers, focusing on homelives and backgrounds.

The junior yearbook class also learned publishing tricks of the trade. They learned how to complete layouts, crop pictures, and compose headlines; all essentials to the successful completion of a yearbook.

Building Mini-Homes, New Club's Ambition

Constructing replicas of homes was the main feature of the Mini-Modular Home Construction club. The club members saw films dealing with the construction processes — "Layout and Construction of a Staircase", "Careers in the Building Trade", and "Careers in Construction".

The members built the model homes individually or in groups. The students brought remnants of wood to school which they scaled down in the shop. The scaled pieces of wood represented lumber needed for the actual construction of a home.

This club was on a trial basis for the year with the intention of giving students something to do rather than having a study hall. The Mini-Modular Construction Club had to be small due to the lack of storage for the replicas of homes.

New Skills Taught in Broad Art Spectrum

Who knows what magic lurks within the minds of Middleburg magicians? During Thursday's "B" activity, the Magic Club met to discover each member's potential as an amateur Houdini. Following the advice of Willis Clawser, advisor, members practiced and perfected feats of magic, varying in degrees of difficulty. These included rip-roaring rope tricks, evasive escapes, and illuminating illusions.

During activity periods "A" and "C," Drawing Club members met to sketch portraits and/or still-life displays. Poster Club members met during activity "D" to design and print posters for personal enjoyment, and also to publicize forthcoming dramatic events.

Students Participate In Variety of Clubs

Tuesday and Thursday's activity periods found many Middleburg students involved in Knitting, Calculator, Coin, and Chess clubs. During Knitting Club, students worked to complete craft projects, while in Coin Club the main object was to buy, sell, and compare coins.

In Chess Club, members learned the basic moves. They held tournaments within the club to test their strategy. Eighth and ninth graders in Calculator Club studied the use of hand calculators and later learned how to prepare program cards for the larger calculators.

Varsity Club Revived For Middie Athletes

1977-78 athletes who earned the varsity letter "M" in a varsity sport and cheerleaders who cheered for varsity sports had the opportunity to become members of the Varsity Club. This club met during Thursday's "B" activity period in room 126.

During the meetings, club members, with advisor Daniel Perna's supervision, planned various money-making projects, the proceeds of which were used to assist athletic activities, to purchase varsity jackets, and to promote athletics in general. Projects included a bake sale in January and a sale of stadium cushions.

Sport Clubs, Enhance Young Talents, Skills

"We won by one point, and last year we lost by 30 points!" That was true of the Junior High Boys' Basketball club, playing a game against Greenwood on January 28, 1978. The Boys' and Girls' Basketball clubs had games with other 7th and 8th grade students from Newport, West Perry, West Snyder, Millersburg, Halifax, and Selinsgrove.

Tenth and eleventh grade students had the choice of electing tennis. When weather conditions allowed, the tennis club members expended energy on the school tennis courts.

Key Club Organizes Seasonal Campaigns

Affiliated with the Selinsgrove Kiwanis Club, the Middleburg High School Key Club came to active life again, this fall, as its members scheduled and completed a cider sale and a sale of Middies bumper stickers. They also kept the front-lawn bulletin board up-to-date with current dates and times of athletic, music, and drama events.

Club activities continued as the Christmas holidays drew near. Members, spurred on by the Christmas spirit, collected canned vegetables and fruits, and toys from the student body for distribution to needy families in the area.

After the holiday break, the Key Club resumed its rather heavy schedule. Music lovers of Middleburg High flocked to the auditorium to attend the annual rock concert. Held February 16, 1978, the concert featured two rock groups, Chance and Mariner.

Tri-M Initiates New Members At Banquet

Requiring members to participate in at least two other music organizations — chorus, band, ensemble, or advanced music, the Tri-M initiated Margie Guerrini, Mary Benner, Lisa Nornhold, Cheryl Berger, and Cindy Snook. The organization held the fall initiation banquet on October 27, 1977 at Billman's Restaurant in Sunbury.

The Modern Music Masters organization held a Fifties Assembly on April 25, 1978 for the entire student body. The program included the 5th Avenue commercial, the Sr. High Chorus singing "It's Up To Us", and the students from the audience doing Rate-A-Record.

Band Prepares For Spring Performances

After summer and fall seasons of successful parades, the Middleburg High School Band, under the direction of Mr. Ronald Renshaw, directed its efforts toward a new goal. Band members pushed marches from their minds, and concentrated on the intricacies of concert renditions of popular and classical music. Strains of "Rocky" and "Star Wars Medley" echoed through the hallways each Monday and Tuesday fourth period.

Although much of the band's time was reserved for concert band rehearsal, band members also worked on their own time to raise money for the May band trip to Niagara Falls. A cheese and bologna sale held in November netted over two-thousand dollars profit for their efforts.

March to the Music

The rifle squad, flag squad, color guard, and majorettes – the band front – learned new skills and difficult routines, consisting of Queen Ann's salute, presentation of arms and parade rests. Junior, Stage Bands Blast Modern Sound

Creating a modern sound, the Stage Band brought the tones of jazz, rock, and big band music to life once again. The ensemble, consisting of seventeen MHS students, re-organized after losing many seniors in the spring graduation.

Under the direction of Mr. Ronald Renshaw, the Stage Band prepared a variety of music for its May Concert. Songs, such as "Fly Like an Eagle," "Evergreen," "Theme from Barney Miller," and "Gonna Fly Now" required early Wednesday morning practices before school to perfect the music.

The amateur Stage Band once began as a novice Junior Band, consisting of seventh and eighth grade students. Mr. Renshaw introduced basic fundamentals to the students through private instrument lessons. During Activity A, the Junior Band rehearsed songs like "I Write the Songs," "Astro Overture," and "Alexander's Ragtime Band," for the March Concert.

Choral Groups Sing Christmas Selections

Harmonizing in four vocal parts, the Girls' Ensemble sang melodies like "Born in Bethlehem", "Let My Baby Rest", and "Fa, La, La, La, Sing Alleluia", for the annual Christmas Choral Concert on December 18, 1977. The Senior High Chorus, directed by Mrs. Coleen Bidelspach, memorized and sang "Give a Little Love at Christmas", "How Can It Be", and "Sing Hosanna".

Jr. High Choristers Perform In Concert

Ever hear of "The Littlest Christmas Tree", "Song of the Littlest Angel", "Mid Winter's Snow", "On Borrowed Straw", or "O Listen Brother"? The Junior High and the Ninth Grade Choruses sang these songs in the annual Christmas Concert held Sunday, December 18, 1977 at 2:00 p.m. in the MHS auditorium. Mrs. Coleen Bidelsbach directed the two choruses, and also accompanied the Ninth Grade Chorus.

Seniors

Throughout life, we must cross many bridges — both those constructed by man and those imposed upon us by fate. These imposed bridges, once crossed, cannot be traveled over again. We must look onward, keeping in mind our mistakes, to cross new bridges that will lead us to a better world.

A sepia-toned photograph of a landscape. In the foreground, there are dark, silhouetted branches of trees and bushes. In the background, a range of mountains is visible under a pale sky. The overall tone is nostalgic and contemplative.

The distant mountains symbolize future accomplishments and dreams. These dreams will not come to us. We see them and we must strive toward them, for we know that with some earnest effort, they can be reached.

Board Chooses Smith For Executive Berth

The Mid-West Board of Education officially welcomed Mr. Barry Smith to the position of Assistant Superintendent at a banquet in the MHS cafeteria on November 22, 1977. All employees received invitations to purchase tickets for the dinner. Mr. Smith became acquainted with district personnel by touring the educational facilities and by observation.

District Superintendent, Mr. Howard Master, co-ordinated the procedures necessary for board-approved renovations, while Assistant to the Superintendent, Mr. Robert Yerger, worked with transportation, purchasing, and the supervising of the elementary program.

Administrators Arrange Bus Routes, Activities

As Principal, Mr. James Howell was responsible for the secondary education program. This involved performing many important duties including obtaining substitute teachers in the absence of regular staff members and observing all teachers in their classes. He also assisted the student announcers in making morning announcements, and supervised the scheduling of extra-curricular activities.

Mr. Robert Apple, Assistant Principal, was responsible for attendance, the activities program, and bus transportation. As Athletic Director, he also was responsible for tickets, refreshments, officials, and announcers at evening soccer games. He ordered team supplies and uniforms and arranged bus transportation to and from games.

Counselors Organize Career Room Studies

As students of MHS tried to decide which careers to choose or which colleges, universities, or business schools to attend, they welcomed the aid offered them by a new Career Room. Those searching for help in dealing with teenage problems also found they had one more place in which to continue their search. Guidance counselors Jane Stoddard and Richard Felker organized the new Career Room in the library. This room contained machines and other facilities that students used without teacher supervision.

Facilities included film strips and cassettes that dealt with today's teenager. There were also two view-decks; one filled with information on career choices, the other concerned with colleges and their requirements. Books and pamphlets, also dealing with concerns of today's teenagers, constituted the remainder of the Career Room's facilities. With the aid of those facilities, Middleburg's students received a deepening insight into the offerings of chosen careers.

Aides, Nurse Supply Clerical, Health Care

What could be worse than a school full of sick students? A school without a nurse! With the flu hitting Pennsylvania in the midst of the colds season, School Nurse Mrs. Patricia Klobe was kept busy with students complaining of flu symptoms. Students found their way to her office at many other times throughout the year as scrapes, scratches, bruises, and bumps plagued otherwise healthy students.

Behind the scenes of school life, the clerical staff, including secretaries, teacher aids, and cafeteria manager, carried out its daily duties of filing, typing, operating the switch board, supervising the lunch line, and maintaining financial accounts of the cafeteria.

English Mini-Courses Allow Student Choice

Mini-courses were an integral part of the English curriculum for senior high students. Students had the option of choosing from courses in Science Fiction, Modern Novel, Mass Media, Short Story, and Mark Twain. Mass Media proved to be one of the most popular mini-courses. Under the guidance of Mr. Daniel Perna, students analyzed the pages of the Patriot daily and then spent one week watching the daily episodes of the NBC soap opera Somerset. After viewing the program Mr. Perna required all students to analyze the major characters and to review the basic characterizations.

Students Bring World Cultures Back to Life

Projects, reports, and research papers encouraged MHS students this year to delve into the past and to acquaint themselves with the lives, religions, and traditions of their American and European ancestors. Mr. Guy Graybill's World Cultures classes completed a variety of projects. Projects included research papers, paintings, and models of housing. Mr. Virgil Hettinger's Problems of Democracy class learned of problems in past and present day government. They also studied topics concerning life outside of school, including how to survive in adverse weather conditions.

Students Participate in Science Day Trip

Courses offered in the field of science opened new opportunities for students wanting to further their education in the science field. Science courses offered were advanced biology, physics, earth science, chemistry, advanced chemistry, and physical science. In biology, students learned the basic techniques of dissecting frogs, starfish, and clams. In earth science, each student collected twenty rocks which they tested and finally labeled. Each student was also responsible for a project. Students could do anything from making a volcano to testing water temperature. Four students and Mr. Weaver traveled to Juniata College to participate in Science Day. They listened to speakers and observed projects and displays. Their day ended with a tour of the laboratories.

Preparing students for a life involving math, the Mathematics Department offered mini-courses dealing with taxes, insurance, field math, and investment. These courses dealt with tax forms, all branches of insurance, surveying and investing one's money in a profitable way.

Three students from the advanced math course participated in the John S. Gold Mathematics Competition in the spring. Mr. Gold designed the competition so that participating students gain a greater appreciation of mathematics.

Advanced mathematic students, with the aid of Professor James Handlan from Susquehanna University, once a week participated in a computer science program. This type program used a computer terminal located in the math department and projected information sent by phone to the main computer at Susquehanna.

Students in Business Gain Real Experience

Gaining experience in the business world, the Office Practice classes managed the entire magazine campaign. In addition to the regular schedule, the class, taught by Mrs. Ferne Zeigler, completed the paperwork during the actual campaign, awarded prizes, paid bills, and organized subscriptions.

In addition to Office Practice, the Business Department offered bookkeeping, shorthand, typing, and Consumer Economics. These courses for senior high students taught personal and vocational business skills in the efficient operation of equipment; desk calculators, duplicating machines, and typewriters.

Vocational Skills Aide In Selecting Careers

The Home Economics Department, the Industrial Arts Department, and the Agricultural Department prepared high school students for future success in their domestic lives. Teachers of home economics taught students valuable skills including cooking, sewing, family care, and similar home activities. Mrs. Sue Fisher also taught Bachelor Know-How classes to interested male students.

Leather, metal, and wood crafts highlighted the teachings of the Industrial Arts Department. This course also boasted courses in welding and small engines. The agricultural course was designed to prepare the students for both on-farm and off-farm occupations, concentrating on individual interests.

Interests Satisfied in Variety of Electives

Art, music, and languages offered students of MHS a variety of ways in which to increase their knowledge and talents. Students who were musically inclined could join the chorus and/or band. Through group practice and individual lessons, students learned to express themselves musically. Christmas and spring choral concerts and the spring band concert resulted from long hours of practice throughout the year. The art room was the scene of many artistic creations as those students interested in art attended their scheduled art classes. Mr. Willis Clawser taught the students how to use pastels, water color and silk screens to their best effect. They also learned how to use other mediums such as clay, charcoal, yarn, and tempera paints. Spanish, German, and Latin studies also offered students a chance to broaden their interests. Teachers concentrated on teaching the basic principles and backgrounds of the languages.

Phys Ed Activities Increase Enthusiasm

Teaching the facts of maintaining a physically fit body and mind and recreational activities sparked interest in physical education. To promote out of school interest, the department added square dancing and flag-football to the physical education program. Flag-football proved to be a very vociferous and energetic game between the opposing teams. Physical education teachers instructed students on rules for coed gym classes for tennis, table tennis, volleyball, badminton and shuffleboard.

In addition to physical education classes, Mr. Aurand, Mrs. McClellan, Mr. Whipple, and Miss Valentine taught the health classes for eighth and eleventh grade students.

Specialized Teachers Train Student Body

Whenever an MHS student was in need of assistance while researching a paper, speech or book report, Beverly Pecht, Librarian, was ready to lend a helping hand. With her help, students found the necessary information to complete their assignments. As driving instructor, James St. Clair directed students in the use of correct driving procedures, as well as stressing a workable knowledge of the laws of the road. Helen Hewitt, new to MHS this year, used individual instruction in math, science, and reading in the Occupational Training class.

Cooks And Janitors Asset to School Life

Flawless floor finishes, and gleaming, dustless desks greeted students as they made their initial entrance September 6 into Middleburg High School. During the weeks previous to the school's opening, custodians worked endlessly transforming a deserted high school into a spotless collection of classrooms.

The cooks of Middleburg joined forces to prepare varied meals for the high school students. Their duties, however, did not end with serving of lunch, but continued as they scraped, scrubbed, and sorted, restoring order to the kitchen and cafeteria at the end of the lunch period.

The Monitor '78 Staff greatly appreciates the help and support of faculty, administration, and students in the production of this yearbook.

Special thanks goes to Mr. Charles Bollinger, Sales Representative of Keller Corporation.

We would like to acknowledge Mr. Guy Graybill for use of his scenic background pictures and the Post for its photographic contributions.

We appreciate the time allotted to us by Mr. Donald Sumner, District Forest Manager, for an interview dealing with the gypsy moth problem in this area.

Mountains and streams are a part of our lives now, and as we go our separate ways, they will remain a part of our lives, even if nothing more than a memory.
